TV Awards Go To Cosby And VanDyke

Industry Presents 4 Emmies To Top Hollywood Comedy

By GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The extruding Dick Van Dyke Show triumphantly collecting four more Emmys. Negro Bill Cosby thanking NBC for having “the guts” to star him. Winner Barbara Stanwyck fighting back tears.

These were among highlights of Sunday night’s Television Academy Awards, a slowly paced show that nevertheless developed its own drama.

THERE WAS pathos when Paul Davis, art gallery owner, accepted an award for his wife Alice Pearce who played comic neighbor Gladys on the “Bewitched” series and died of cancer a few months ago.

“I ask you to join me in a toast to a wonderful actress, a great human being and the most delicious wife a man could’ve had,” he said.

The nationally televised program was presented from Hollywood and New York. In New York, an award to David Lowe, producer of “KKK—The Invisible Empire,” was accepted by his widow, columnist Harriet Van Horne.

The Van Dyke show tied with the Chrysler Theater, the latter including Bob Hope’s Christmas special, for the most awards—four.

The Van Dyke program brought Emmys to its stars,
Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler
Moore; its producer, Carl Reiner and the writers of its “Coast-to-Coast Big Mouth” episode last September 15, Bill Persky and Sam Denoff.

Producer Reinier, accepting his Emmy, paid tribute to the show’s crew and cast, including Rose Marie and Morey Amsterdam, in the Hollywood audience.

BACKSTAGE, he recalled that the show was canceled after its first year, but that executive producer Sheldon Leonard talked New York executives into renewing it. Sunday night’s awards brought the show’s total in five years, he said, to 16 Emmys.

Van Dyke has won three Emmys, Miss Moore two.

Miss Moore thanked everybody connected with the show for “five of the happiest years of my life.”

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The last rebel headquarters in Da Nang surrendered today, giving Premier Nguyen Cao Ky virtually unchallenged control of South Viet Nam’s second largest city after eight days of bloodshed.

Some 400 anti-government soldiers poured out of Da Nang’s Tinh Hoi pagoda and gave up their large store of arms without firing a shot. An overwhelming force of marines and 13 armored cars ringed the Buddhist stronghold.

The capitulation came less than 12 hours before expiration of an ultimatum by the junta to declare the rebel soldiers deserters unless they ended the revolt by 6 p.m. About 400 rebels gave up Sunday.

Ky’s success, despite sharp initial U.S. disapproval of his surprise troop movement north, gave the 35-year-old premier a considerable boost in his campaign to retain power and retain control of the army’s 1st Corps area.

With the tide turned in his favor in Da Nang, Ky also moved his troops against anti-American rioters who set two

Bid Spurned In Georgia By Senator

Talmadge Decides Against Race For Governor Of State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said today he will continue to serve in the Senate and will not be a candidate this year for governor of Georgia.

Talmadge indicated last week that he might leave the Senate, where he has two more years to serve in his present term, and return to Georgia to run for governor.

Talmadge had taken that course under consideration after former Gov. Ernest Vandiver withdrew from the race because of his health.

The aim in putting Talmadge into the governors’ race would have been to field a strong Democrat to hold the office for that party.

“In response to my request for Georgians’ views on the forthcoming governor’s race, I have received several thousand telephone calls, telegrams and letters,” Talmadge told a news conference.

“They almost unanimously pledged support for any course of action that I determine upon.”

Talmadge said the majority of those who responded to his request for views thought he could best serve the state’s interests in the immediate future by serving as governor of Georgia.

“The majority also felt that I could best serve the state’s interest in the long range by continuing to serve in the United States Senate,” Talmadge said.

In accordance with what he thought to be the overwhelming majority view of the people of Georgia, Talmadge said, and in the long-range interests of the state, “I shall continue to serve in the United States Senate to the best of my ability.”

Area To Get Showers With Rise In Mercury

Warmer weather is due in the district Tuesday, accompanied by scattered showers, the Ohio forecaster said.

The mercury will rise to the upper 70’s or low 80’s today, the weatherman said. It will be cloudy and warmer tonight, with a low of 58-65, the forecaster said. Tuesday will be considerable cloudiness with windy and warm weather and scattered showers, he added.

The mercury hit a low of 40 at 5 a.m. today in the suburbs.
It was 44 at the same time in the downtown district.

Central Bid System

500 New Buses Ordered Under Ohio School Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —
More than 500 new school buses have been ordered under a new central bidding system, the State Education Department reported today.

It appears that the great majority of new buses bought this year will be purchased through the centralized bid plan devised after a court ruled out a central bus purchasing system of the State Board of Education, a department spokesman said.

Today was the deadline set by the Board of Education for local districts to decide whether they would take part in the new bus-buying plan.

The first bids probably will be asked within a week, said John M. Parsons, director of finance and transportation for the education department. He said more orders were expected later today and it appeared the majority of new buses would be bought through the central bidding plan.

The new system provides for the state to take bids, acting as agent for cooperating local school districts. Each local district will contract individually for purchase of buses, however.
This plan was devised to get around objections raised by the court.

Da Nang Fighting Ends

U.S. military vehicles on fire outside the main Buddhist Institute in Saigon. The troops threw rows of barbed wire around the institute to contain further disorders.

One influential monk, Thien Minh, announced a mass Buddhist “march of peace” in Saigon Wednesday. He disassociated the Buddhist leadership from involvement in the rioting. Minh is a lieutenant of Tri Quang, the principal Buddhist leader in the north and reputed architect of the anti-government campaign.

As a precaution, the U.S. command extended the nightly curfew for American troops in Saigon from 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. Previously the curfew ran from midnight to 5 a.m.
American billets near the Buddhist Institute also were evacuated.

The fast-breaking political developments came against a backdrop of increased U.S. and Vietnamese activity against the Viet Cong.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing 47 more Viet Cong Sunday in Operation Crazy Horse, bringing the reported enemy toll in seven days of fighting in the central highlands 250 miles northeast of Saigon to 207 Communists.

With somewhat improved weather, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 49 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday. This was 10 more than the previous day and considerably more than last week when monsoon rains plagued the air offensive.

The Viet Cong struck back by sinking a U.S. Navy “swift” boat with recoilless rifle fire on the Dinh Ba River 20 miles southeast of Saigon. It was the first loss of one of the 50-foot, aluminum-hulled boats. Moderate casualties were reported among the six crew members.

Vietnamese headquarters said government troops killed 59 Communists out of an estimated force of 200 in an operation 33 miles southeast of Saigon, and killed 35 in another sweep in northernmost Quang Tri Province. Another 10 Reds were reported killed during a Viet Cong attack on the Tam Ky airstrip 35 miles south of Da Nang. No planes were damaged, but the Vietnamese took moderate casualties, the spokesman said.

Among the government’s opponents captured in Da Nang was the city’s mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was considered a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Man as a Communist plotter last month but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky’s Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician-mayor had been taken when he tried to flee the pagoda. He was flown to Saigon.

By crushing the Da Nang revolt in a week-long campaign of attrition and force, Ky took a major step toward reasserting the U.S.-backed government’s authority in the northern provinces. But Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using “terrorism, bombing and slaughter” to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon Tuesday called by the government to discuss the country’s deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against Hue, where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside

The Army Corps of Engineers of Pittsburgh has begun to recover the tug, “Mary Alice,” which sank in the Monongahela River in January after ice punctured its hull, and today had the boat secured in a floating drydock near Point Marion. The tug had been leased to the state of West Virginia to push the showboat, “Rhododendron,” for the state’s centennial. Declared abandoned, the tug will be repaired and sold to the highest bidder. ## Youngsters Rounded Up Aliquippa Man Arrested At Teen-Age Beer Party

Beaver County detectives, assisted by several area police officers, broke up a teen-age beer party in Raccoon Township and arrested a 20-year old Aliquippa man for violation of the Pennsylvania State Liquor Law Sunday night.

County Detective Louis A.
Police said he observed a large gathering of teen-agers at a party at Sandy Beach, a private site along Raccoon Creek.

He reported as many as 50 cars were parked in the area at a charge of 50 cents each for parking and operators of the party charged $2 a person for admission.

Nine police officers from Monaca, Center Township, Potter Township and Raccoon Township responded to a call for help by Police.

By the time they arrived, 13 persons were left in the area.
Of these, seven were girls between 16 and 21 and six were boys in the same age group.

Police said the youth offered no resistance and cooperated during the investigation.

As a result of the raid, Walter L. Tolfa Jr., of 91 Linmar Plan, Aliquippa, will be charged with the violation of the State Liquor Law prohibiting persons under 21 to possess alcohol or malt beverages.

A quantity of beer was found in Tolfa’s car, Police said.

3 Killed, 1 Critical In Pittsburgh Wreck

PITTSBURGH — Two cars collided head-on on Route 51 in Pittsburgh’s suburban Pleasant Hills, killing three persons and critically injuring a fourth.

Among the victims Sunday was a surgeon from Grafton, W. Va. He was Dr. Herbert Shanes, 50, whose wife, Catherine, 49, was admitted to Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, in critical condition.

Also killed were Bernard E.
Nickel, 27, of Brentwood, and a

Youths Hurt As Auto Hits Utility Pole

Area Trio Treated At Salem Hospital In Negley Mishap

Three youths received bruises and abrasions in one of four district highway mishaps over the weekend, including one in which a car struck a rock slide on the East Liverpool - Wells-ville Rd. and was forced against a passing auto.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Delbert Eugene
Cunningham, 18, of 101 W. 7th St. and two other youths were injured Saturday night when their car hit a utility pole and then went into a ditch along Route 170 near Negley.

Cunningham along with John Davidson, 16, of Hammondsville and Ronald Smallwood, 16, of 411 Aten Ave., Wellsville, were treated at Salem City Hospital after the mishap at 11:50 p.m.
a third of a mile south of Negley.

Officers said Cunningham’s 1964 convertible veered off the road at a curve and he lost control, the auto ramming the pole on the left side then crossing the highway and going into a ditch. He was charged with speeding.

Donald Schichilo, 42, of N. River Dr., Toronto, and Gifford Rowley, 36, of Irondale, escaped injury in a two-car mishap on the super road about 12:30 a.m.
today.

The patrol said both men were headed south, with Rowley in the curb lane, when his 1964 sedan struck a large rock from a slide which had fallen onto the roadway. The impact knocked his car into the side of the 1962 station wagon of the other driver, who was attempting to pass.

There was moderate damage to the undercarriage of the sedan and the side of the station wagon.

John A. Emler, 23, of 223 Washington St. was cited for driving left of center after his 1959 sedan struck an oncoming car on Route 267 about a mile north of the city Sunday morning at 5.

The patrol said Emler, headed south, rounded a curve left of center, and struck the left front of a northbound 1965 coach operated by Herschel Conley, 25, of R.D. 1.

John Kovach of South Heights, Pa., escaped injury when his 1960 station wagon veered off the south side of Route 154 some 1½ miles west of Rogers Saturday afternoon and struck a utility pole. He was to visit the patrol post today to complete the accident report.

the main Buddhist Institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Egged on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep.

"Burn American cars! Kill Americans!" the youths screamed. A toothless old woman spat on an American correspondent.

The youths roughed up the jeep's driver, Capt. Earl R. Keeler of Glen Burnie, Md., but he took refuge in a nearby command post for Korean, Australian and other allied troops.

After two hours 1,000 Vietnamese marines and paratroopers scattered the mob, hurling tear gas and firing automatic weapons into the air.

There were conflicting versions on the origin of the shot that killed the Vietnamese soldier, a bicycle messenger. Buddhist monks said a GI had killed the Vietnamese. Some U.S. sources said the shot was fired by a Vietnamese guard with the convoy, but other American accounts of the incident did not say whether an American or a Vietnamese fired the shot or whether it came from another source.

The riot was the first big display of anti-Americanism since Buddhist monks led their youthful supporters on nightly rampages through Saigon for a week last month in support of Buddhist demands for a civilian government.

It was the fourth straight day of disorders around the institute, a large compound with a pagoda and barracks housing Buddhist offices and quarters for the monks.

In Saigon's adjacent Chinese city of Cholon, an explosion wrecked a tenement building, burying up to 20 persons in the ruins. Officials said the blast could have been caused by gas or the accidental explosion of a Viet Cong arms cache.

No Americans were known to have been in the area.

Sporadic firing had continued until late Sunday night in Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, but the shooting ended with a heavy tropical downpour.

Gen. Dong said the rebel troops yielded without any negotiations. He said he told them: "If you surrender to us, we will save your lives." He said there was no other guarantee.

Dong said he doubted whether they would be punished but added that would be up to Saigon. He said some of the rebel military leaders may have escaped the cordon of troops, armored cars and tanks. He also said there might still be some snipers in the city but that Da Nang was 90 per cent secure.

Twenty officers, most of them lieutenants and captains, were among the 400 rebels, he said.

Dong said 20 government troops were killed and more than 100 wounded in the week's fighting. He gave no estimate of rebel casualties. The Buddhists claimed 200 killed and 700 wounded — a figure that foreign newsmen at the scene considered highly inflated.

Emmies

mys "on a mantel in my bedroom—where I can see 'em."

The program wasn't canceled for next fall, he said. "We on the show decided that five years was a good round number and to quit before we wore out our welcome."

By networks, the breakdown of Emmy awards was NBC 20, CBS 14, ABC 9.

"Batman" (Adam West) and "Robin" (Burt Ward) presented the award for continued performance by a leading actor in a dramatic series. "Holy suspense," cried Ward.

Winner Cosby said, "I extend my hand to a man by the name of Robert Culp this costar in 'I Spy"). He lost this because he helped me." Culp also was a nominee.

AN NBC source said Culp tutored comedian Cosby as an actor at the series' beginning. Culp also wrote six of the "I Spy" scripts, including the first, in which he gave Cosby the lead.

The gray-haired Miss Stanwyck, radiant and emotional in a coral lace-trimmed gown, said backstage she didn't get immediately when her name was announced because "I thought they said Barbara Parkins (star of the Peyton Place series). Yes, I was on the verge of tears. I really did not expect it this year."

It is the second Emmy for Miss Stanwyck, four times an Oscar nominee, but never a winner of the movie prize.

She won her Emmy as the mother of a rich family in the old West on ABC's "The Big Valley."

Jittery Don Knotts, winning a supporting Emmy for "The Return of Barney Fife" on the Andy Griffith show last Jan. 10, exclaimed: "Well, I really am surprised. Would you believe this?" The Emmy was his fourth.

Cliff Robertson, winning for a single performance in "The Game," said, "I feel I'm the luckiest actor in town and certainly the happiest."

Danny Kaye emceed the Hollywood ceremonies and Cosby the New York presentations. In contrast to his breezy counterpart Hope on the Oscar awards, Kaye maintained a more solemn pace. He said he had found television "as exciting, stimulating and creative as any branch of our profession."

Writer Rod Serling, national president of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, maintained the ponderous pace with a tight-mouthed welcome.

Service Held For 'Sniper'

MIFFLINTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A freshly dug grave near the top of a hill in Westminster Presbyterian Cemetery here contains the remains of William Diller Hollenbaugh.

After Hollenbaugh was buried Saturday, the Rev. H. A. Christopher of Mifflintown turned to Hollenbaugh's brother and sister and said:

"There wasn't much I could say."

Forty miles to the south is Shade Gap, called "The Shades of Death" by the Indians, where circumstances leading to Hollenbaugh's violent death swirled to a climax.

He is accused of kidnapping Peggy Ann Bradnick for a week, killing an FBI agent and wounding a deputy sheriff. Peggy escaped safely. Hollenbaugh was killed Wednesday in a blazing gun battle.

Hollenbaugh, the so-called "mountain man," resided in Burnt Cabins, near Shade Gap. He was 44.

Private services were conducted in a funeral home here. Two baskets of flowers were placed by Hollenbaugh's gray casket. Two pallbearers were on hand.

Weeks Of Back Pain Now Relieved

"After weeks of pain in my back and hips, I tried DeWitt's Pills—got wonderful relief," says Mrs. R. Gardner, Waterloo, Iowa.

DeWitt's Pills act fast with a proven analgesic to relieve pain of backache. Their mild diuretic action helps eliminate retained fluids and flush out irritating bladder wastes. ## Everybody Digs The Dandelion

The dandelion, now blanketing the yards and landscape with yellow, is a plant which wears two hats.

It's the most despised of weeds, according to those who pamper lawns and lavish labor and lucre to obtain green velvet about their houses.

It's the most delicious of greens, a spring taste thrill almost out of this world, claim devotees — any one of whom instantly will provide any number of recipes, every one of which recommended as an adventure in good eating.

Upshot is everybody digs dandelion.

The haters dig it religiously and hurriedly, trying to rid their properties of the plants before they send out their fluffy white seeds—to propagate more millions.

The lovers dig it religiously and hurriedly, trying to get just one more mess collected and eaten before time toughens the plants.

The haters also poison the poor dandelion, using sprayer and spreader to distribute highly selective poisons which kill dandelion but spare the grass.

A Man's Viewpoint

"Where's the vanity and dignity gone when you see such sights on the streets of East Liverpool?"

"What has happened to the immaculately-dressed ladies? Our town was once noted for its beautiful women and impeccably dressed ones."

"Every time I am in town it seems the sloppy, dirty look is in. I am so tired of seeing the hair up in curlers or tied with a wrinkled scarf. And the tight pants on every - age women. The feet sticking out from the thonged slipper. Why not go barefooted?"

"This is just a man's viewpoint! How about it ladies, let's get a little femininity going and keep the pants and hair curlers for home or the back yard, not down town."

The words aren't ours, but those of one who signs himself "An Observer."

Tolerant And Critical

WASHINGTON

President Johnson sounds very tolerant towards his critics, when he's not criticizing them. He can be both tolerant and critical not only in the same week but in the same speech.

This has been going on for years because the critics have irritated him for years.

Just last week he was saying a president "will find people who differ with him, who disagree with him. We all understand that. We accept that."

But also last week he challenged the critics of his Viet Nam policy to stop being "nervous Nellies," saying: "There will be nervous Nellies and some who become frustrated and bothered and break ranks under the strain and turn on their own leaders, their own country and their own fighting men."

IT WAS ONE of his sharpest attacks on those who don't like the Vietnamese war and say so. Back in 1964, in office less than three months, Johnson combined criticism and tolerance in one speech. This was on Feb. 11, 1964.

"Regardless of what you hear," he said, "and regardless of what some of the bellyachers say, we are a much beloved people throughout the world."

"He said, 'You will hear alarmists and people who like to jump on their government, people who like to criticize. . . join with some of our opponents and be almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies.'"

Then he became suddenly tolerant: "We have differences. Even in our own country we do not see everything alike. We must make allowances for the other fellow."

Three days later, speaking about U.S. problems at home and abroad, he managed the same kind of combination:

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: People keep telling me I must quit asking questions about U.S. expenditures of life and wealth in Southeast Asia because we are defending U.S. freedom over there.

No one dares to say anything that might be interpreted as a doubt about U.S. freedom. But I wonder if it would be reasonable for me to doubt that U.S. freedom is going to be saved in South Viet Nam.

Some years ago, we saved U.S. freedom by sending an expeditionary force to Cuba. Many Americans grew up in the firm belief that Teddy Roosevelt saved it in person when he led the charge up San Juan hill. I personally never believed this to be true, but no one takes it seriously now.

We saved U.S. freedom again in World War I, when we sent an expeditionary force to Europe. That was a real blast in favor of U.S. freedom. We had people believing we were fighting not only to save freedom here but to make the whole world safe for democracy.

They had me believing it, too. I got as excited as everybody else at the prospect of a vastly improved world once the Kaiser had been licked. But who believes now that we made the world safe for democracy in World War I, or that we saved U.S. freedom?

What we did was to become involved in an international balance of power struggle with a crowd of hard-bitten pragmatists who made short work of our high ideals when Woodrow Wilson went to Paris to claim the fruits of the crusade he thought he had been leading.

There wasn't as much guff about saving U.S. freedom in World War II, but again the official line was that we were going on a crusade. I wonder if it isn't time to call in psychiatrists for consultation.

What causes us to put on these morality plays for foreign audiences that do not know what we are doing? It appears to me the only thing they understand is the chocolate bars with nuts that our troops hand out.

The further question in my mind is whether we understand it ourselves. I doubt if we do,

They may knock off a few but there are plenty for the haters to kill and plenty for the lovers to eat. It means nought to the dandelion whether it's loved or hated: It's getting dug by both factions and so's at war with the human race.

It isn't losing.

About those recipes: Some maintain dandelion is great boiled, like greens, with ham hock or bacon square.

Others prefer to wilt it in a steaming mixture of water and vinegar and bacon grease, breaking in an egg or two, which marbles the greens with white threads.

But, it is said, these methods can't compare with wilting it German - style.

Diced onion is mixed with the dandelion and then spitting - hot bacon fat — with plenty of crisp bacon chips — is poured over the greens and mixed. This is sugared and salted and vinegared to taste.

Devotees claim the famed Maxim of Paris and Oscar of the Waldorf never whipped up anything to approach it.

'The Careless Ones'

A smashed auto is a terrifying sight.

Almost daily mangled wreckage appears in the press and on television — mute evidence of the price of carelessness. Yet there are those drivers who continue to "damn" the mute evidence and cry "Full speed ahead!" — ignoring yellow lines, stop signs and the other traffic restrictions that have been established for their own safety and the safety of others.

"The Careless Ones" were out again Sunday on area highways. Fortunately, those we saw escaped with their lives. Next time they may not be so lucky.

It always has been difficult to understand how people sensible under most circumstances can become so insensible when they get behind the wheel of a car on a crowded highway.

By James Marlow

"Freedom prospers through fair discussion of honest differences. Both at home and abroad we welcome such discussion. But neither at home nor abroad is there any need for twisted arguments that would damage the good name of our country."

"Those who distort the truth to alarm the people either at home or abroad, about our capacity or our purposes will not fulfill their ambitions."

TWO WEEKS AGO one Washington reporter wrote that Johnson had accepted his "critics as a way of presidential life and muffled some of his outbursts. The anger that used to explode when Sen. J. W. Fulbright took the Senate floor with attacks on foreign policy has dissolved into a kind of sadness."

The mind - reading was a little premature. That same week in a speech at Princeton Johnson took a crack at Fulbright who had complained American foreign policy displayed an "arrogance of power."

Without mentioning Fulbright by name, Johnson said the exercise of power in this century meant for the United States "not arrogance but agony."

The next night at a Democratic dinner Johnson took another poke at Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, who was sitting a few seats away.

Johnson said he was glad to be among his old friends and "some members of the Foreign Relations Committee." Some witnesses at Fulbright's committee hearings had not been flattering about Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

And Johnson, still talking, said, "You can say one thing about those hearings although I don't think this is the place to say it."

By Truman Twill

though I sometimes suspect there may be some crusty characters backstage who understand it from A to Izzard and take ruthless advantage of the middle-mindedness of the rest of us.

We are not defending U.S. freedom in Southeast Asia. We are defending the myth that people in other parts of the world should accept our version of the way they should think and act because we think it is infinitely better than their way.

This is a problem for psychiatrists, not diplomats.

Give my regards to the family.

COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

Odd Facts

Excessive speed is not the cause of most traffic accidents today, as many people believe. Fifty per cent of all motor accidents occur at speeds of less than 40 miles an hour — and you don't have to go far to get into an accident either. Half of all accidents occur within 25 miles of the driver's home.

The first and only man in U. S. history to be elected on the same day to the vice presidency of the nation and also to a seat in the Senate was Lyndon B. Johnson who was thus honored in November 1960. He gave up the senatorial office.

Christopher Columbus' famous voyage of discovery in 1492 from Spain to the West Indies—a distance of about 4,000 miles — took about 70 days.

The Bible is made up of 66 Books, 1,189 chapters, 31,173 verses, 773,746 words, and 3,586,489 letters.

The velocity of sound increase about one foot a second for each degree of Fahrenheit the temperature rises.

We Know How The Story Ends

Education Without Teaching

By Raymond Moley

The output of printed matter dealing with education seems to be unending and inexhaustible. In the New York Times the other day, I counted no less than 23 articles absorbing 51 column feet of text.

There were articles telling about interviews with college administrators, reviews of books by prominent educators, advertisements of books about education by educators, a review written by one university president of a book written by another university president, news stories about student unrest, interpretative articles about the causes of student unrest, etc., etc.

We are told over and over, with many well used educational clichés, about the "revolution" in education and about how colleges and universities are in "transition." And we see those terribly overworked phrases, "new directions" and "new horizons."

IN THE MIDST of this great tide of comment there is very little about the most important aspect of education, which is the art of teaching. Most of those who earn a living in education would rather be called educators than teachers.

Without teachers capable of inspiring and directing students, there can be little or no meaning in education. The real crisis is neither financial nor philosophical. It's the growing lack of capable teachers and the constantly lowering capacities of the teaching force itself.

The statistics tell us that the enrollment in our colleges and universities has more than doubled in the last 10 years, and the projection is that within a very few years the enrollment will be twice what it is now.

A great boom in college building construction is going on. New colleges are springing up everywhere. Already there is scarcely a community which can be listed in the census as a city that does not have a city college.

THERE ARE COUNTY COLLEGES, subdivisions of state universities, junior colleges and specialized institutes — many or most of them relatively new.

College administrators, foundation executives and government officials charged with the direction of education tell us in alarmed tones of the tide of new enrollments, of the need for more and more money for housing and even occasionally of the need for new manpower to take charge of the innumerable new classrooms. But the shortage of available teachers will grow more serious. One figure is that by 1970 there will be need for 35,500 more teachers than the available supply.

To meet this need, teaching salaries are shooting upward. There are more fringe benefits. And there are few teachers these days who have not secured that phantom blessing called "tenure." In plain words, "tenure" means that, regardless of the quality of their teaching, they are assured of a life job just as are the judges of a federal court.

THE VERY PEOPLE who are supposed to give direction in the meeting of education's needs — the college and university administrators, foundation executives, government bureaucrats and even leading members of faculties — are to blame for this dearth of teaching talent. They, and they alone, are responsible for what has been called "the flight from teaching."

In most institutions the talented teacher—the person who is capable of exciting the interest and imagination of students, who is capable of filling his classroom with the excitement of discovery—is low on the list of priorities when honors and rewards are given out. Instead there is what is called the rule of "publish or perish."

This means that rich rewards are paid to the dull and unimaginative who swell the volume of written work. Promotions are too often based upon the extent to which the faculty member has escaped from his classroom to do research or to write articles and books.

The federal government has compounded this problem by pouring out vast sums for research projects. Foundations, especially the larger ones, are obsessed with "projectitis." The teacher is given a grant permitting him to spend his time for a year or more in doing something which takes him out of the classroom.

The old saw attributed both to Samuel Johnson and George Bernard Shaw that "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach" is now revised to "Those who cannot either do or teach can always write or do research."

The quality of the written work and the value of research can hardly justify the neglect of the need of students for stimulating and inspiring teaching.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — John B. Fickes was named marshal of the Wellsville Memorial Day parade, with Supt. S. E. Daw as guest speaker.

Mrs. Olen H. Dawson, organizer of the Esther Bible Club, was a special guest during the group's closing meeting of the season at the Scrogg's Farm near Beaver.

Miss Mabel Stewart of Hookstown arrived home to spend the summer vacation after completing a term at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — A foster home program was inaugurated in Columbiana County by the child welfare department for the placement, care and supervision of orphaned children and wards of the county.

Louis F. Graham of Beaver, incumbent, won the Republican nomination for Congress from the 5th district.

TEN YEARS AGO — Janice Mackall of New Waterford and Joyce Hussar of Rogers were named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the graduating class at New Waterford High School.

Danger Sign?

By David Lawrence

Court May Be Aware Of Problem

Strange things are happening and strange things are being said today that have not been heard before, but they reflect an intense feeling of concern about the course of the American government in some of the domestic policies of importance to the nation.

When the chief justice of the United States, for instance, feels that he must disregard all precedent and issue a warning against a tendency by Congress to emasculate provisions of the Constitution, this is a matter of profound significance.

Speaking on Tuesday before the annual meeting of the American Law Institute, Chief Justice Warren expressed apprehension that some of the 30 bills being considered by Congress in connection with the civil-rights controversy "might get through and at the same time be ill-advised." He did not specify any of the proposals by name, but made this important observation:

"Some of them go a long way and may radically change the relationship between the federal and state governments."

THIS CHANGE, however, has been going on now for several years, and the present Supreme Court in its decisions has been responsible for some of the most significant interpretations which have brought this about.

There is wide speculation in the national capital as to what particular measures the chief justice had in mind. It's assumed that he was not commenting on the objectives or even the drafts of legislation proposed thus far by the administration.

One measure to which he may have been referring would give any citizen the right to go to a federal court with a complaint that racial discrimination has occurred in the selection of jurors. The federal government would then take over the selection of juries in state and local courts "without regard to state and local laws and regulations applicable to jury selection and service."

Another proposal would permit litigants in certain cases involving civil rights—particularly state prosecutions against demonstrators—to have their trials transferred from state to federal courts.

THE REAL DIFFICULTY today is that the whole issue of discrimination has gotten out of the hands of lawyers and into the political arena. Civil-rights organizations hold a club over the administration and also over individual members of Congress because, as voters are being organized into blocs based on race or color, the natural result is for holders of and aspirants to public office to vie with each other in promising to get even extreme proposals enacted.

The administration has felt the pressures, and the Department of Justice, while it has been trying to adhere to precedents, has been unable to come up with a bill that is satisfactory to the civil-rights groups.

The administration bill, for example, would require that jurors be selected from lists that include a cross-section of the community, but the selection of jurors by state authorities would not be interfered with unless it can be proved that racial discrimination has occurred.

THE EXTREMISTS would like to have an automatic system which would allow the federal government to move in practically at will—even on suspicion of discrimination.

There have been hints from time to time in addresses by Supreme Court justices that have been construed as referring to pending issues, but never has Congress been so explicitly warned as in the chief justice's speech.

It's rather late for a warning to be delivered by a member of the court that any legislation "may radically change the relationship between the federal and state governments." As a matter of fact, the Supreme Court of the United States over the years has been gradually changing the relationship by giving the federal government an increasing amount of power.

It may be that the chief justice and his colleagues on the bench are becoming aware of the growing danger. This could be a salutary development.

Midget Corn

Corn as high as an elephant's eye makes a nice song but a poor crop. The current fashion in cornstalks is the same as in skirts — short.

Farmers are growing a new hybrid of corn only five or six feet high, about half as tall as standard varieties. The short, sturdy stalk lends itself to mechanical picking.

Some of the dwarf plants grow half a dozen or more ears per stalk, in contrast to the plump single ear of most hybrids. The small ears look somewhat stunted, but together they produce more kernels than one handsome ear.

The new look in corn is the result of never-ending efforts to improve the plant by hybridization, the National Geographic Society says. Hybrid corn is the result of inbreeding selected strains to develop desirable qualities, then crossing the strains. Often two hybrids are interbred to create what is called — in the best Corn Belt circles — a double cross.

Wisconsin, the largest beer - producing state of the U. S., puts out a little less than 10,500,000 barrels of the brew every year. West Germany, the traditional "beer capital" of the world, produces about 45,800,000 barrels a year. Beer from both these areas enjoys a wide distribution on a world scale.

'Chicken Run' Linked To Schoolboy's Death

LONDON (AP)—Police have charged a 13-year-old boy with murdering an eight-year-old schoolboy. Detectives believe the child died in a death-dare game called "the chicken run."

The body of little Ian Lewis was found bound hand and foot in the River Thames Saturday. Other boys said the game consists of rival gangs daring each other to be bound and left on the Thames foreshore when the tide is out. The object is to get clear before the tide comes in again.

Detectives believe Ian failed to make it and drowned.

Lisbon Police Nab 3 Youths On Auto Theft

LISBON — A cross-country trip from Cape Cod to California ended in the Village Jail Sunday morning for three Massachusetts youths. An auto they abandoned here had been stolen, police said.

Police charged David R. Pacheco, 18, of New Bedford with contributing to the delinquency of his two 16-year-old companions — William E. White, 16, of West Yarmouth, and Michael Keating of Hyannis. They were cited for curfew violation.

Police Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie and Policeman Richard Koffel captured Pacheco and White at 2:40 a. m. Sunday after the three abandoned a 1962 Chevrolet on S. Jefferson St. and went into Bill's Laundry on Washington St.

The trio ran when police approached. Keating escaped. Capt. Varner saw him near the car about 8 a. m. Sunday and caught him a block away.

Police said the youths admitted they stole the car near Greensburg, Pa., about 10 p. m. Saturday. The car is owned by Oakie Hague of Senacaville, Ohio, whose son works near Greensburg.

Pennsylvania State Police had no report of the theft until Lisbon police reported recovering the car.

Parents of the boys were notified. Capt. Varner is to take the three before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin today. Police said they will notify the FBI.

'Does It Have Love?' Girl Asks Of 'Heart'

PITTSBURGH — "I didn't have love in it, a very great deal of love," said Mrs. Donna Lipman. "At the time I blinked my eyes and gulped. It's just one of those questions a child asks that stumps you."

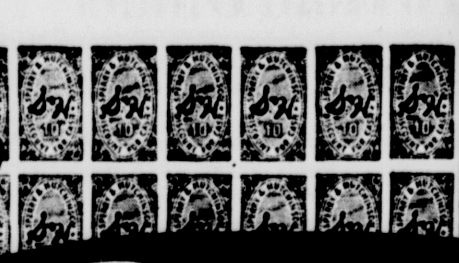

The question: "Does a plastic heart have love in it?"

Seven-year-old Linda Griggs posed the question to Mrs. Lipman after her second - grade class had discussed the insertion of an artificial device in the heart of Marcel Derudder and Derudder's death.

Since Mrs. Lipman didn't have an answer, she helped Linda write to Dr. Michael Debakey of Houston, who supervised the operation.

Debakey replied in a letter: "Yes, a plastic heart does have much of an answer for her."

"The love in a plastic heart is the love of many people who love other people, and don't want them to die just because their hearts are not strong enough to keep beating. They work hard and they worry. They do everything they know how to do and then they study and read books and think and work to find out everything there is to know about a real heart and a plastic heart. If you can think of how much love there would be in hundreds of hearts, then that is how much love there is in a plastic heart. When you grow up, you will understand how very much love that is."

A-Visiting With John Daly

CBS, which owns the rights to "Person to Person," isn't doing anything with them these days, so a former co-producer of that once-popular TV series is working up a variation on it.

John Aaron, currently producer of the "Alumni Fun" shows on CBS, hopes to sell the prospective new series to ABC.

It would star John Daly, moderator of "What's My Line?" in the man-who-goes-visiting role played by the late Edward R. Murrow.

In this case, however, the program would be filmed rather than live.

And the visited celebrities would all be feminine. In fact, the title of the series would be "Women Here and There."

TWO HALF-HOUR sample episodes have just been filmed in color in London, visiting the homes of Leslie Caron and Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Jacqueline Kennedy. Daly was able to get away to do the sample shows because "Line" has been pre-empted for specials for a couple of weeks.

John Aaron and the late Jesse Zousmer produced "Person to Person." Zousmer, who had become an ABC executive, was killed in a Tokyo plane crash a few weeks ago.

Lucille Ball will fly to England next week to film an hour-long special, "Lucy In London," to be shown by CBS next fall.

In it she will be shown around the town by Anthony Newley, the Briton who starred on Broadway in "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

THE BROADCASTING industry is seeing the handwriting in the sky. It says: Satellite-to-home TV is on the way.

The trade magazine "Broadcasting," a stout defender of the radio-TV establishment, has begun to worry about it.

Only a few months ago this trade weekly gloated over the burial of a Federal Communications Commission inquiry into local live TV programming, suggesting the regulatory agency was making a mountain out of a molehill. The FCC had held hearings in Omaha and Chicago to assess how well TV stations were looking after local concerns. The inquiry produced headlines but no official action.

This week "Broadcasting," in a lead editorial, warned the stations: "More and more it becomes apparent that no television station can count on an indefinite preservation of its contemporary role in the U.S. communications scheme."

One station in the sky could do the work of a 1966-style network and all of its affiliates in national broadcasting.

Sounding just like a militant FCC commissioner, the magazine concluded:

"Between now and the not-so-far-off moment of truth, stations everywhere will have to devote more of their time and money to the development and presentation of locally oriented programming. Those that don't will be left with little defense against a usurpation of their channels."

Asks For Less Pay

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — A city commissioner has asked for a cut in salary. The request came from Commissioner Barrett Stigler, who said that if he accepted more than half his annual salary of $1,800, it would jeopardize pensions he receives. Stigler also requested that the commission allow him to select at a later time a project for which the remaining $900 would be spent.

Bolster Your Staying Power

It's fairly easy to start a diet, but after 10 days to two weeks enthusiasm wiles and your will weakens. Analyze why the steam goes out of your drive at almost the identical place in each reducing attempt. For this enlightenment can help you to bridge the trying period.

Ida Jean Kain

When you lose five pounds you feel slimmer, but perhaps nobody noticed or remarked that you looked slimmer. At the beginning of a reducing program the compliments are nil, the rewards are meager and the self-denial seems so great. You begin to doubt that it is worth all the sacrifices you are making.

AT THIS point, give yourself an invigorating challenge. What are you really giving up when you muster the gumption to stop overeating? You are giving up excess pounds! Isn't this the greatest favor you could do yourself?

When you say a firm "No" to some fattening extra, you are in effect saying a triumphant "Yes" to success. This mental turn may do the trick for you.

Recognize that only you can make this decision.

Look for ways to rekindle your interest. Do you have a test dress? With four to five pounds off the middle measurement, it will fit better. Feeling slimmer helps you to form a mind picture of yourself with a lissome waist. This in turn makes it easier for you to follow through with stretch - bend - swings. It's no effort to stretch and bend! First thing you know the waist is half an inch slimmer—glory be!

On the right food pattern there is no question but what you can lose the excess pounds. Here again a challenge can spur you on. Resolve to change from a high carbohydrate to a highly protective diet, building each meal around a high value protein food.

Do this and you'll have far less trouble on the hunger score. Eat to build slimmness on three modest meals a day, plus scientific pickups to cut ahead of hunger. At 4 in the afternoon, a half-ounce of cheese and a cup of tea can save the diet day. Vary the pickups, but keep them within 100 calories.

Construction Boosts Steel

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Construction is rapidly moving to the No. 1 position in the consumption of steel, now that automobile needs are beginning to shrink," Steel Magazine reported today.

"Automakers comprise the only consuming group that is applying the brakes," the weekly journal of metalworking said, and "demand from all other consuming outlets continues to be brisk."

Steel said market analysts for one large steelmaker predicted third quarter mill shipments of 22.3 million tons and fourth-quarter movement of 22.2 million tons, which would make second-half shipment totals exceed those in the last half of last year by about 3 million tons.

Estimated ingot production of 2.79 million net tons last week was only 16,000 tons under the all-time weekly record set in April of 1965, Steel said.

Commenting on price changes announced by Republic Steel Corp. last Wednesday and followed by some other producers, Steel said "there's nothing in the market to warrant a belief that a general rise is in immediate prospect" although selective increases are always possible.

For the present, the magazine continued, "talk of higher prices appears to be largely just that."

"Not only is government resistance confronted, deterrents are seen in the drooping stock market, cutbacks in auto production schedules, approaching summer vacations and the ever-present foreign competition."

The scrap market showed "a tendency to weaken," Steel said, but the composite price of No. 1 heavy melting scrap held unchanged at $30.17 a ton.

Overfiled On Taxes

SHELBYVILLE, Ky. — A businessman here who wishes to remain anonymous is seeking to get one of his income tax payments returned. Early in the year, he had his attorney make out a tax form for him and he sent a check with it to the Internal Revenue Service. Near the deadline, his accountant, not realizing the taxes were paid, filled out another form. The businessman attached his check and mailed it also. Now he has discovered the duplication.

Transfer Of Weapons Proposed

Ike's Nuclear Plan Stirs Protest

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy declared today it "would be a terrible mistake" for the United States to heed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

EISENHOWER, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Ednam F. Kelly, D-N.Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Hickenlooper called for amplification of Eisenhower's proposal. Jackson said a Senate Government Operations subcommittee he heads will go deeper into the matter in pursuing its current inquiry into NATO policies.

"This nuclear problem is one that we are deeply concerned about," Jackson said, "because rightly or wrongly much of the (NATO) trouble involves it. My own view is that we should be very slow to make any changes in the basic system under which we are operating."

KENNEDY said he doubts that the NATO allies, including West Germany, would want the kind of nuclear proliferation inherent in Eisenhower's suggestion.

Eisenhower did not mention Germany in connection with nuclear weapons. But he said that to make up for the French withdrawal of forces from NATO, "other nations, more specially the Federal Republic of Germany, should be encouraged to develop more military power."

Kennedy noted that any transfer of nuclear weapons to European countries "would tend to complicate our relations with India and Pakistan and with Israel and Egypt."

"This suggestion does not go to the heart of the problem of what we and our allies will be facing in the 1970 — what the next generation of Americans will be facing," he said.

"Our efforts in the long-term vital interests of peace for mankind should be to restrict the spread of nuclear weapons, not encourage it."

Symington said he is worried about the fact that the United States has distributed hundreds of nuclear weapons to other countries, although it maintains control of those weapons.

"To the best of my knowledge," he said, "the Russians have not distributed nuclear weapons outside their own country, even to their own satellites, let alone their presumed allies."

LAST WEEK President Johnson was reported to have discussed with key advisers, among other things, the possibility of moving NATO's military and political headquarters from Paris to Belgium, arevamping of the NATO setup and a larger NATO role for Germany.

These matters will come up at a June 6-8 NATO session in Brussels that will deal in part with France's planned withdrawal from the NATO military system.

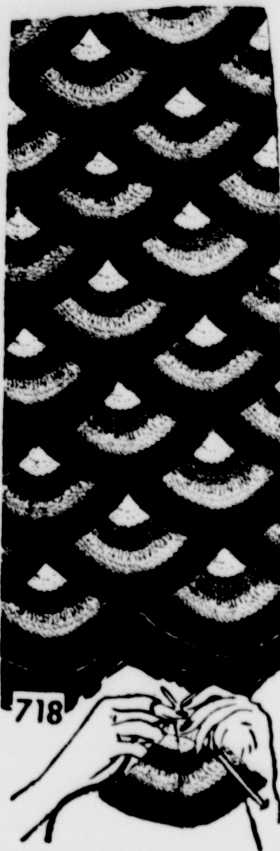

In his letter, Eisenhower noted the United States is "deeply involved in NATO's infrastructure," most of which is located on French territory.

"To abandon, sell or demolish these facilities will be expensive while to replace them will be more so," he said. "Moreover the defense problem will become intensified in difficulty."

His advice was to "do nothing whatsoever to antagonize the French people" and to leave the way open for France to return to the alliance if it chooses to do so in the future.

Bad Weather Hits Midwest

By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorm warnings were in effect for much of the middle Missouri Valley this morning as heavy rains, hail and tornadoes struck the nation's midsection.

Valparaiso, Neb., was pelted by hail up to 3½ inches in diameter which whitened the ground. Omaha had more than 2 inches of rain and winds gusted to 60 miles an hour.

Tornadoes were seen near Jamestown, N.D., and Bridge-water, S.D., although no damage was reported. Jamestown also was buffeted by 83-mile-an-hour winds.

Portions of Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri were under the severe thunderstorm warning. The thunderstorms were reported lining up into a squall line stretching from southern Minnesota to northwestern Missouri.

The severe weather was forming ahead of a dome of sharply cooler air which is displacing record heat across the Great Plains.

Strong northwest winds drove temperatures into the 50s today after record highs in the 90s Sunday across the Dakotas.

Farther west subfreezing temperatures were common over Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. Freezes were expected as far south as the rich agricultural areas of the Snake River Valley in Idaho.

There are 15,000 species of fish in the oceans of the world.

Ho Has Had Plenty Of Time To Build

And How Are Things In The North?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

South Viet Nam is engulfed incessantly in turmoil while the Communist north — for all the outside world knows — seems free of it. Why?

How is it that the northern regime appears able to escape political trouble and control its people while southern regimes seem incapable of doing so?

PROBABLY there are several answers:

The northern regime has not, in fact, been without troubles stemming from the protracted war.

Bombings of the north may have aided the Red regime in countering morale problems.

The northern regime had 10 years virtually free from outside peril and could construct and fortify a classical Communist power structure to keep its people under control.

There is no question in the north of Buddhist opposition as such. The religious situation there is much what it was in the south before the Buddhists started to organize politically against the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

The local faith in the north was mostly a vague mixture of animism, ancestor worship, a deep imprint of Chinese Confucianism and elements of Chinese Buddhism. Under the Communists, Buddhists never would have had a chance to become a political factor, much less organize.

IN THE south, U.S. influence has upheld democratic rights. Another factor was American shock over conflicts between the Diem regime and the Buddhists. And agitation, in a glare of publicity, has become highly contagious.

Under these conditions, the political elements of Buddhism found fertile ground for action.

This does not mean that there is clear sailing in the north in contrast to the south.

There is little question there have been difficulties growing out of war weariness. Earlier this year, Politburo member Le Duc Tho severely lectured those who "entertain pacifism, slacken their vigilance and fail to get ideologically ready for combat."

"They see only difficulties and do not see opportunities, show pessimism, perplexity and a reluctance to protracted resistance," he complained.

Too many, he said, "still fear sacrifices and hardship, shrink from difficulties. . . have low organizational, disciplinary and revolutionary fighting spirit."

Le Duc Tho said party members were "too coercive with the masses." The party's prestige was hurt by this because "the greatest peril is separation from the masses." In some areas, he said, there was "a serious state of disunity."

TWO BRITISH correspondents admitted to Hanoi within the last year have suggested that U.S. bombings, putting the northerners' homeland under attack, may have helped the Communists sustain morale.

Thousands of people now are in militia corps. Thousands are busy digging air-raid shelters, manning defense posts, drilling. Air-defense units, mobile repair teams and first-aid groups are on the alert 24 hours a day. So many men are on duty that, the party has reported, 70 per cent of the industrial labor force now is made up of women.

The listed bombing targets have been military: roads, bridges, communications, barracks, arms dumps and the like.

The Communist north — an area always poorer than the south — is accustomed to rural privations. All along it has been on an austerity basis. Any disruptions in the economy due to bombings have had doubtful impact.

There is rationing in North Viet Nam: rice, meat, sugar and cotton — but this is nothing new, and there are no indications of extreme privation.

In addition to all this, the northern regime has had a long time to organize. In 21 years since Ho Chi Minh moved into Hanoi with the proclamation of a republic there has been indoctrination from childhood for a whole generation.

TODAY there are 2.5 million children in the Communist Young Pioneers. The best get the title of "Good Nephew (or Niece) of Uncle Ho." About 1.5 million young people are organized in the Viet Nam Labor Youth Union.

When Ho was building his party and country few had any notion of what communism was. He was, to many in North Viet Nam, what George Washington had been to the United States. He identified himself with the peasants and championed them.

He had a head start in organization. Chiang Kai-shek's troops occupied the north, charged with disarming the Japanese. They were reluctant to get out, and by the time they did and the French were on the way back, Ho was already well organized, with Vietminh guerrillas holding much of Tonkin. Feeling against the French was high, and Ho had little difficulty in establishing authority.

The Communist structure was along the classical lines learned by Ho in the old days as a Communist international agent. It is organized at village, district, province, precinct and zonal levels in a pyramid which concentrates power at the top in the hands of the Politburo. Once that was accomplished, there was little future in opposition.

Committees Will Be Busy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little floor action is expected this week in Congress but its committees will continue to grind away at legislation that may keep senators and House members in Washington until early fall.

Leaders now are hoping for adjournment by October, a month before the congressional elections.

Major committee activity this week centers on the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees. The Senate committee gets a closed briefing today from State and Defense Department officials. Both committees resume consideration Tuesday of the annual foreign aid bill.

Legislation to regulate traffic in cats and dogs used for experimental purposes will come before the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday.

Two Senate committees, Judiciary and Government Operations, have scheduled hearings on use of the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The House Government Operations Committee will delve into such matters as drug safety, personality testing of government employees and creation of a department of transportation.

The House Judiciary Committee resumes hearings Tuesday on new civil rights legislation, while the Ways and Means Committee starts hearings today on the administration's request for an increase in the national debt limit.

Only one major bill is on the docket in either house for a final vote.

That measure, slated for a House showdown Wednesday, would increase minimum wage levels from $1.25 to $1.60 over the next two years and add an estimated 7.2 million workers to the program.

The only other general bill on the House schedule would set up a rehabilitation program for narcotics addicts.

The meager Senate docket calls for consideration of the House-passed Treasury and Post Office appropriations bills and House amendments to a Senate bill that would permit the government to shift federal loans to private investors.

At least two factors are contributing to the slow-down of the legislative machinery.

Both Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of the Senate are hospitalized. Most House members are spending more time in their home districts trying to get renominated and re-elected this year. At one point last week, the House mustered only 258 of its 432 members on a roll-call vote.

Windshields Damaged In East End Vandalism

Vandals were blamed for damaging the windshields of three parked autos and breaking a lumber firm's window in the East End over the weekend, police reported.

Duane Archer and Tom Archer, both of 1263 Erie St., told police the windshields of their autos were scratched with circular marks by sharp instruments Friday night or early Saturday.

William C. Rea, 1259 Erie St., told police the left side of the windshield of his auto also had been scratched.

A 4-x-5-foot window at the Kerr Lumber Co. on Virginia Ave. was smashed early Saturday when vandals threw a large section of sewer pipe through it. A neighbor told police she saw two youths running from the building.

Britons' Challenge Of Ocean Recalls An Earlier Venture

—Somewhere in the Atlantic off Virginia, lost for a day to airborne spotters because of fog, two intrepid Britons rowed a tiny boat toward England from America today.

They're going to St. Ives and hope to be there in 50 days. If they make it, theirs would be the fastest trip of its kind. But not the first.

For 70 years ago, long before these marathon oar-pullers—David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29—were born, two New Jersey clammers made the 3,000-mile journey in an 18-foot dory in 55 days.

"Crazy Vikings," people called George Herbo and Frank Samuelson when, June 6, 1896, they left the seawall at the Battery in New York and, borne on an ebb tide, set the dory Fox on a bobbing course for England.

The Fox was three feet longer than the 15-foot Puffin, on which Johnstone and Hoare left Virginia Beach this weekend.

Food and water for 60 days were stowed aboard the Fox and when Herbo and Samuelson pushed off, 2,000 people lined the shore. "Honor and lucre" was what they sought, the New York Herald said at the time.

"It wasn't every day, even in New York, that one could see two fools throw their lives away," said another contemporary account.

After a month, beyond Newfoundland's Grand Banks, a vicious storm blew up. The Fox was hit by a breaking wave and capsized. Somehow her crew righted her and climbed back in, but some equipment, including a stove, was lost.

The Norwegian bark Sita took Herbo and Samuelson aboard July 15 for a hot meal. Then they renewed their rowing—by now sheer torture.

The long, long row ended July 31. Herbo and Samuelson came back by ship. For a while they were heroes.

But not for long. The strong-backed crew soon were forgotten. Of lucre there was none. And back they went to clamming off Sandy Hook.

The first mustard seeds were brought to England in 50 B.C. by Roman soldiers.

Some Appalachia Areas Show Gain

By ROBERT E. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some counties in Ohio's Appalachia area continue to report recession-type unemployment rates despite a statewide employment peak since World War II.

But some are beginning to feel the results of new industrial and recreational development and they predict it won't be long until their situations improve.

Latest figures from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation show a statewide jobless rate of 2.6 per cent, lowest since World War II (based on available records) and 6 per cent below the national average.

Yet 5 of Ohio's 28 Appalachia counties reported unemployment of more than 10 per cent and 11 others had a jobless rate of more than 7 per cent.

Guernsey County, which a few months ago was Ohio's "sore spot" in employment with more than 11 per cent, is one Appalachia county which is showing improvement.

Earl Baldwin, executive president of the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce, said Guernsey counties have become a people with a "go go" attitude. He predicted the BUC's next report will show a lower jobless rate for the county "which will be no where near 10 per cent."

Baldwin listed installation of a new National Cash Register

Co. plant which employs 900 persons as one improvement. It replaced a plant of the Radio Corp. of America which sent the county's jobless rate soaring when it withdrew last year. It also employed 900.

Other pending improvements include completion by the state of Salt Fork Lake, expected in about two years. Baldwin said it will give the county "one of the finest recreational areas in the state" and also make 4½ millions of gallons of water a day available to industry.

Guernsey County also is moving ahead with plans for a new airport under the state industrial development program and undertaking with $20,000 in federal funds a flood control feasibility plan.

In addition, Senecaville recently received $100,000 in federal funds for enlargement of its National Fish Hatchery.

The other counties in the 10-plus employment category are

Adams, Clermont, Hocking and Pike. They appeared not moving as well as Guernsey but some insisted the state's jobless figures do not reflect their true situation.

At Logan, Harry L. Smith, who heads the Hocking County Community Improvement Corp., said his group is conducting a survey to determine how many job applicants in the state employment office there actually are residents of the county.

"We'd like to know how many of these people are included in the 10 per cent unemployment rate. Maybe it is very small, maybe it isn't," Smith said. He also said there may be some jobless claims from persons who live in Hocking but normally earn their living in other counties.

William Papier, research director for the BUC, agreed that cases in which a person files a claim in one county but works in another tend to confuse the situation. He cited Clermont

County as an example, noting that many residents there work in Cincinnati.

"Clermont sometimes is referred to as the bedroom county," Papier said.

At Chillicothe, one spokesman said Ross county's seven per cent jobless rate does not reflect a generally good economic situation.

But Robert A. Muckler, an official of the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce, said there has been some "reluctance" to move community development programs along.

"I'm not sure of the reason but I think it's just the tendency of some officials to avoid change," Muckler said.

In addition to Ross County, other Appalachia counties listed by the BUC as having a jobless rate of more than seven per cent were Belmont, Brown, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Noble, Perry, Scioto and Washington.

Continuance Set In Auto Use Case

A Lawrenceville man, accused of operating an auto without the owner's consent, was granted a continuance until Wednesday morning when arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

When Ronald Conkle said he wanted a lawyer, Judge Chertoff scheduled a hearing for Wednesday and set Conkle's bond at $500. The affidavit was filed by Dick Spahr, co-owner with Robert Owen of Bob and Dick's Discount Lot, 1169 Pennsylvania Ave.

Conkle was returned here over the weekend after being taken into custody Friday morning in Chillicothe by Chillicothe police and State Highway Patrol officers.

Spahr originally filed a stolen car report with police on May 3, asserting that Conkle had obtained the 1959 two-door sedan on April 30 for a trial run and then failed to return it. He later filed the criminal charge against the Lawrenceville defendant.

Man Cheated Of $130 With 'Bunco' Game

Two "con men" bilked him of between $130 and $140 in a "bunco" game Saturday, an area man told police.

Lester V. Birch of R. D. 1 told officers late Saturday morning that he found only a paper towel and a pack of cigarettes in a handkerchief in which one of the men had placed the money.

The only description that Birch could furnish, police said, was that both men were about 50 and well-dressed. One was tall and the other short, he said.

Birch said he was walking east on 6th St. when one of the men approached him and asked about the location of a house, promising him $20 for information.

He and the suspect walked to the Diamond Restaurant on Market St. where they met the other man. The two told him they knew he had some money and if he would give it to one in "good faith" they would pay him for information.

Birch said he turned over the currency to one of the men who wrapped it in a handkerchief and put it in his pocket. A short time later, one of the men told Birch to hold the money as they had to leave, promising to return in 10 minutes, the victim said. When the allotted time had passed, Birch said he opened the handkerchief to find his money gone and the towel and cigarettes in its place.

Services Conducted For Retired Justice

WYNEWOOD, Pa. — Memorial services were held today for Charles Alvin Jones, retired Pennsylvania Supreme Court chief justice.

Jones, onetime candidate for governor in the state, died Saturday at his home in this Philadelphia suburb. He was 78.

Failing eyesight forced him to retire from the state supreme court in 1961. The 21-year-term to which he was elected in 1945 would have run out next year.

A Pittsburgh attorney, he was virtually unknown outside Allegheny County when tapped by the Democrats in 1938. He ran unsuccessfully in the governorship race against former Gov. Arthur H. James.

Student Protests Backed In Address By McNamara

PITTSBURGH — Americans have a fundamental right to disagree with their government even if it gives comfort to the enemy, says Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Speaking at commencement ceremonies of Chatham College Sunday, McNamara defended student protests against U.S. policy in Viet Nam, although he said they bolster the Hanoi regime.

As McNamara spoke in the Carnegie Music Hall, about 130 pickets marched on the sidewalk outside, carrying signs and chanting, "End the war in Viet Nam; bring the troops home."

Police said the pickets represented the Pittsburgh Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs and the Student Democratic Society.

The pickets marched between policemen spaced about 10 yards apart. About a dozen uniformed officers stood at the entrance to the hall. The demonstration was orderly.

"However much we may disagree with some aspects of it, we can be genuinely proud that free discussion is so vigorous on the American campus today," McNamara said, adding:

"...whatever comfort some of the extremist protest may be giving our enemies—and it is clear from Hanoi's own statements that it is—let us be perfectly clear about our principles and our priorities.

"This is a nation in which the freedom of dissent is absolutely fundamental."

Chatham, the nation's fourth oldest women's college, conferred an honorary doctor of law degree on McNamara. His daughter, Kathleen, 21, was in the graduating class of 114.

Beneath most student protest, McNamara said, "is the vague fear that somehow society—all society, both East and West—has fallen victim to bureaucratic tyranny of technology and autocracy that is gradually depersonalizing and alienating modern man himself."

He said students at the University of California at Berkeley carried signs reading: "I am a human being; do not fold, bend or mutilate."

"It is a sentiment we can all emphatically agree with," the secretary added. "I very much wish that college students in Peking and Hanoi were allowed to carry the same signs on their campuses."

Injured Child's Termed Serious

Charlene Boals, 8, of Salineville, injured when the car in which she was a passenger was rammed by a tractor-trailer truck on Route 30 near Substation Friday, was in "serious" condition today at Youngstown Southside Hospital.

Daughter of Mrs. Shirley Boals, 36, of Lincoln St., Salineville, she was transferred over the weekend from City Hospital, where she had been in "critical" condition with skull, neck and shoulder injuries.

Also hurt in the crash were her mother who was in "fair" condition at City Hospital with leg and hand lacerations; her brother, John, 12, who was "fairly good" with skull, back, arm and jaw injuries, and her grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Blazy, 65, of Church St., Salineville, who was in "fair" condition with head and shoulder injuries.

Mrs. Boals was driver of the car which turned from Route 170 onto Route 30 into the path of the rig operated by Henry Martin, 32, of West Alexander, Pa., who was unhurt.

French Withdrawal Scheduled For 1967

BONN, Germany (AP) — France has told West Germany it will remove its 72,000 troops in Germany by July 1, 1967, unless the West Germans ask officially that they remain.

The move is part of France's military withdrawal from the Atlantic alliance.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard would like for them to remain as a symbol of friendship and defense against Soviet attack but he opposes any exclusive French control resembling the 1945-55 occupation.

Left Turns Permitted From E. 5th At Walnut

Left turns from E. 5th onto Walnut St. again will be permitted with the removal of a sign banning the turns, Safety Service Director Robert E. Vordrey said today.

The director said he and Council's street committee headed by Councilman Floyd Murray inspected the intersection Saturday and the committee agreed the left turn ban should be lifted. The committee also agreed that an advance green arrow, suggested by Council in discussions at its May 16 meeting, would not work because east-bound traffic is limited to a single lane.

Councilmen Norman Bucher and James Lowe are the other members of the street committee.

Faculty And Priests Protest Against War

LATROBE, Pa. — Faculty members and priests joined with students Saturday in staging a demonstration at St. Vincent's College in Latrobe against all war, the Viet Nam war and the draft.

The group of about 40 handed out leaflets, carried signs and delivered speeches in front of the building where students were taking the draft deferment test.

Of the 700 scheduled to take the test, about 300 showed up on the campus of the Roman Catholic liberal arts college.

Ending Long Career

Testimonial Held For Ernest John

Ernest John, principal of Scottish Rite, Knights Templar Newell Jefferson School who plans to retire at the end of the term in June, was honored Saturday night at a testimonial dinner at the Masonic Temple in Chester.

His retirement will mark the end of a long, colorful career which began in 1924 at the Grandview School in Chester. He continued his teaching at the old 4th St. School in Newell in 1930 and then in its replacement, the present Jefferson Building.

John was presented with a plaque by Arthur DeLong, president of the Jefferson Parent-Teacher Organization, on the behalf of the school group. He also received a gift from DeLong.

"Lead, Guide and Inspire" was the topic of a speech given by Mrs. Ruth Cox Turner, attorney, during the testimonial.

The Newell principal was born in Lisbon Sept. 25, 1901, to the late Daniel and Elizabeth John, and has lived in Chester since 1902. He attended West Liberty State College, Geneva College, the University of Montana and University of Mexico, and in 1939 received his Bachelor of Science Degree from Kent State University, and in 1940 his Master's Degree in administration and supervision from the University of Pittsburgh.

While in high school, he played football, basketball and baseball and was president of his college fraternity for three years while at Kent. John was presented the first life membership in the Jefferson PTA and has been active in both the local and county PTA councils. He is past president of the Hancock County Principals Association and a board member of the Hancock County Children's Home. He is a past master of the Chestre Masonic Lodge and a 32nd Degree Mason of the miles.

John was a scoutmaster of Troop 39 in Newell for 15 years and holds the Scoutmasters Key. In 1939, he achieved the highest award in scouting, being the seventh area man to receive the Silver Beaver award.

He holds a life membership in Chester American Legion Post 121, and is treasurer and a member of the board of directors of Diversified Savings & Loan in Chester.

IN HIS FIRST venture into politics, he was named the Republican nominee for the House of Delegates in the May primary election.

John is an active member of the First United Presbyterian Church in Chester.

Robert Wern, an instructor at the Newell school and vice-president of the PTA, was master of ceremonies for the program, during which Mrs. J. Paul Finley and Miss Dorothy Talbot, teachers at the school, also were honored.

The two, who will resign in June, were presented gifts by Mrs. Bennie Martin, who read a selection, "To Teach is Love," dedicated to them in appreciation for their many years of service to the children and community.

Vocal selections were presented by George Vukas and Mrs. Robert Carnahan.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. C. Harold Smith of the Newell Nazarene Church.

Guests included John's sister, Miss Olive John, a teacher in Chester; his brother, Edgar John, a retired teacher, and his two nephews. Approximately 100 attended the event, which was sponsored by the Jefferson School PTA.

The area of the earth's surface is about 196,950,284 square miles.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I married a man who took his sweet time about proposing because he thought I was too young for him. Now I'm 55 and look every day of it, thanks to his rotten temper. Every dirty, mean thing that he's ever said to me has left its mark on my face.

Since you are so good with answers, what's your answer to this?

Yesterday my husband was driving me to the dentist. As I got out of the car he said, "Don't let the dentist sell you his most expensive work, Ethel. You're getting up in years and there's no sense putting a fortune into your mouth to lay around in the cemetery."

I was so mad I couldn't speak. What should I have said? — MRS. MAD.

Dear Mrs.: You should have told him you plan to be lying around in that cemetery a long time and you are going to get the most expensive work available because you want it to hold up.

Sleepless Night

Dear Ann: Our next-door neighbor is a nice woman in her 70s.

Last week her brother became ill and she left for the coast very suddenly. She gave the key to her home to a 21-year-old grandson and asked him to keep an eye on her house.

We know for a fact that the boy has been using his grandmother's home for sex purposes. The boy and his girlfriend have been to the house four times since Monday. Last night the boy drove up at 10:30 p.m. The girl arrived at 10:45 p.m. in her own car. The girl left at 3:15 a.m. and the boy left at 3:25 a.m.

I'm willing to spend the money on a long-distance telephone call if you advise phoning the grandmother. — CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: I do hope the grandmother returns soon so you folks can get some sleep.

The next time you see the boy enter the house, knock on the door and tell him you wanted to make sure it was a relative and not an intruder. Then he will know you are hep.

Drop it there. If the woman had asked you to keep an eye on her place, you would be expected to report to her. Since she gave the key to her grandson, she placed — or I should say, she misplaced — her trust in him.

Cooled

Dear Ann: Recently a man in our office was hospitalized. I'm one of those nincompoops who has more heart than brain. I sent him a large bouquet of flowers out of pure friendship but it was misunderstood.

Since the man returned to work he has been very cool. We are both married and I wonder now if perhaps his wife objected. (My husband didn't. I asked him.)

Should I tell him I'm sorry if the flowers embarrassed him — or should I skip it? — DUMB ME.

Dear You: It would have been better, of course, if you had sent flowers with a group (cheaper, too).

Anything you say now would sound defensive and raise his eyebrows another inch — so skip it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Woman To Head Retarded School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Judith Rettig is one of only three women in the United States to head a state institution for the mentally retarded. She became today the first female superintendent in the 109-year history of Columbus State School.

She thinks it's "just a pleasant coincidence" that the appointment came when Ohio women are beginning to campaign vigorously for equal status with men.

That's probably because she's "not a feminist" and believes "whoever is best qualified for the job should get it."

Wife of Dr. Salomon Rettig and mother of an 11-year-old son, she has been clinical director at the school since 1958.

She is lavish with praise for her predecessor, Dr. Roger Gove, now an assistant to the head of the Ohio Division of Mental Hygiene, calling him "the one who has taught me so much about my work here."

She also has learned from graduate courses taken at Ohio State University (where her husband is a professor of psychology) after she joined the staff of the state school in 1952.

Incidentally, she notes that seven of the 10 doctors on her staff are women.

Organize Own Parties, Nation's Negroes Told

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Negroes should forget about integration and instead work to improve their lot by organizing political parties, said the new national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"We feel that integration is irrelevant," said SNCC's Stokely Carmichael in an interview at his Atlanta office.

"We have got to go after political power."

Carmichael, 24, said Negroes must organize their own parties because they have been denied real participation in both major political parties.

Failure of third-party efforts, he said, would "be like the last straw in terms of doing things peacefully."

Negroes, Carmichael said, will achieve nothing unless they can build a political power base — at the local level, whether in a rural Southern county or in a Northern ghetto.

The trouble with integration efforts, he said, is that the Negro is going around begging for something.

"And all we've got is scars," he said.

"SNCC has to give the Negroes across the country something that they don't have to beg for," he said. "The white people in this country want us to remain in a begging state."

The political system, Carmichael said, does not provide representation for Negroes in the cotton fields and ghettos.

"One outside the ghetto does not speak for and represent them," he said.

Carmichael replaced John R. Lewis, 26, as titular head of the loosely run SNCC. Lewis was considerably less active in the third-party movement.

Carmichael, born in Trinidad, West Indies, is 6-foot-1 and weighs 170. He has perpetually drooping eyelids and a soft voice.

Lounging in a chair in his sparsely furnished office, he wore a faded denim shirt, unbuttoned all the way down the front, blue jeans and heavy boots.

"We have tried organizing around integration," Carmichael said. "But our experience showed us there was no need to integrate. It didn't help the poor white any more than the Negro."

Carmichael came to the United States in 1952, went to school in Bronx, New York, and was graduated from Howard University, Washington, in 1964. He joined SNCC in 1961.

Carmichael organized the all-Negro third party in Lowndes County, Alabama. The party, flying the black panther emblem, has put up a slate of Negro candidates for county offices to oppose white Democrats in the November election.

Ceylon's Senate has 30 members, 15 appointed by the governor - general and the remainder elected by the 157-members of the House of Representatives.

Our little airline no longer is.

We can still remember the days when we would say, "Fly Lake Central Airlines," and people would ask, "Lake who?"

They're gone, those days.

Today we'll fly you at least one hundred miles an hour faster than we've ever flown you before. On new French prop-jet Nords, and Convairs converted to prop-jets.

Next year we'll fly you twice as fast on our all-jet jets.

Erie St. Shed Blaze Quelled

Furniture and a lawn mower were damaged when a fire of undetermined origin burned out the interior of a shed attached to the home of Shirley Bell, rear 1172 Erie St., early this morning, firemen reported.

Although the fire badly scarred the shed, the flames did not reach the frame dwelling owned by Martin Pickens, Asst. Chief Frank Butler said.

Butler said he was unable to detect any cause for the fire, but noted that some oil rags also were stored in the shed.

Six firemen from the East End and Central Stations battled the blaze for about an hour after receiving the alarm at 2:19 a. m.

Firemen were called at 12:15 a. m. Sunday to Crook's and Montgomery Ward stores on E. 5th St. after a drop in pressure set off sprinkler systems.

Firemen turned off the sprinkler systems, checked both buildings and notified store officials.

Firemen were called to the home of Alfred Gloeckner, 331 W. 9th St., at 11:46 a. m. Saturday when a unit on a kitchen range shorted and burned up. The fire was out on arrival, they said.

During All-Sports Banquet Sunday Night

Midland High's Athletes Honored

By JOHN COMO
Senior trophies were awarded 20 athletes, jackets were presented four graduating cheerleaders and officers of the Midland Mothers Athletic Association were installed Sunday night during an all-sports banquet sponsored by the MAA at the Midland Serbian Club.

Sen. Ernest P. Kline of the 47th District was the principal speaker.

Joseph Cochran, head football coach, presented trophies to 14 seniors and announced that 11 of the graduating grid-riders have received grant and aid scholarships to college.

Receiving trophies were Alfred Monaco, Daniel Clouse, Steve Alston, Dennis Bradshaw, Anthony Rosatone, Martin Ciancone, Anthony Ciccone, Bernard Mraovic, Thomas Wuchina, Sam Morrow, Charles Morrow, Jerry Kaiser and Bill Marcum.

Cochran and his assistant coaches, Reynold Peduzzi, Charles Polce and Stanley Yukica, also received football jackets.

In basketball, trophies were awarded Brent Lake and Sandy Martins by assistant coach Edward Olkowski.

Head basketball Coach Hank Kuzma was forced to leave the banquet early to be at the bedside of his ailing mother-in-law. Before leaving, he spoke of the Midland School District's great loss in the sudden death of John E. Wilson, supervisor of the elementary schools.

OLKOWSKI announced that Lake will be attending St. Francis College at Loretta, Pa., on a grant and aid scholarship.

Roger Slappy was the only track member receiving a trophy. Victor Martinetti, athletic director and track coach, made the presentation.

Yukica, golf mentor, gave Nick Vujakly a senior award and cited Martin Ciancone as the team's top scorer of the season with 14 points. Ciancone received his senior trophy in football as athletes are given awards in just one sport.

The cheerleaders, Mary Ellen Bruno, captain, Theresa Lona, Christine Orlando and DeVetta Williams, received jacket awards from Robert Fleming, cheerleading coach.

A surprise guest of the night was Wilbur P. Dirshimer, newly appointed superintendent of Midland schools. Dirshimer, who arrived in town Sunday to attend funeral services for John E. Wilson, told the gathering, "I am happy to return to second home town. I was saddened by the death of Mr. Wilson and I assure you Midland has lost one of its hardest workers on behalf of the children in the community."

Dirshimer formerly served in the Midland school system as a basketball coach and teacher from 1948 to 1952 and as high school principal from 1952 to 1956. He will assume his duties as school superintendent July 1.

A. L. Breakiron, community relations manager at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., was toastmaster.

Mayor Eli G. Corak of Midland praised the mothers' association for its work in "helping to keep the athletic program a successful venture."

KLINE, impressed upon the athletes to play by the rules.

"Your training should be carried over into every-day life. You are taught to play by the rules of the game and the referee's decision is final, whether it favors your team or not. You are taught to accept the referee's judgment.

"The same holds true in life. Only, the laws are the rules of the game. Treat these laws with the respect with which you have learned to treat the rules of football, basketball and any other game you have played, and you will be superior citizens, who will win the game of life. Break them, and expect to be penalized just as you are on the field of play when a rule is broken."

In Changes At Midland

Schools' Head Must Seek Replacement For Wilson

The selection of a replacement for an old friend is the first and possibly the hardest decision facing Walter P. Dirshimer, who will begin his duties as Midland School District superintendent July 1.

Dirshimer attended funeral services for John E. Wilson, superintendent of elementary schools, who died last Wednesday night, and was a surprise guest at the Midland High School All Sports Banquet Sunday, sponsored by the Mothers Athletic Association at the Serbian Club.

In an interview following the banquet, Dirshimer said he was happy to return to what he described as "my second home town."

The death of Mr. Wilson, a former coaching assistant and close friend, brought Dirshimer to Midland from Atlanta, Ga., where he is finishing a term as supervising principal of the DeKalb County Public School District.

Dirshimer served in Midland as a teacher and basketball coach from 1948 to 1952 and as high school principal from 1952 to 1956.

In finding a replacement for Mr. Wilson, Dirshimer reported that applications will be sent to Miss Bernice Coffin, school board secretary, and then forwarded to him for study.

He said: "I will work with the school directors as closely as possible and will recommend

Other guests at the banquet included Maurice Newman, president of the school board, wives of the coaches and members of the Junior High Basketball team, which gained a co-championship in Beaver County with Monaca.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Milorad Dobrota of St. George Serbian Orthodox Church.

W. P. DIRSHIMER

To Assume Job July 1.

the man I feel is best suited for the job. Of course the job has been made more difficult because I will be in Atlanta until the end of June."

Dirshimer also reported that Edgar E. Richards, present superintendent, whose two-year term expires July 1, has offered his services in helping to find a replacement for the elementary superintendent.

Dirshimer, a Beaver Falls native, was appointed to the school post by unanimous decision of the school board April 11. His salary will be $14,400. He returned to Atlanta Sunday night by plane.

All About Men

Miss USA Gives Preferences

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Miss USA said today that good manners for men are a must in her book.

"Men who have had manners could be called my pet peeve," said Maria Judith Remenyi, who was selected Saturday night.

"I like men to be masculine," Miss Remenyi said. "I hate femininity in men."

Miss Remenyi, a 5-foot-6 brunette was born in Denmark of Hungarian parents and came to this country 10 years ago. She speaks four languages and intends to add a fifth—French—soon.

Miss Remenyi of El Cerrito, Calif., is a junior at the University of California at Berkeley. She represented her home state in a field of 49 beauties from 48 states and the District of Columbia.

A hint of the outcome was given Thursday night when photographers chose Miss Remenyi as "Miss Pixable," indicating she also is photogenic.

Runnersup in the 15th annual Miss USA Pageant were Pat Denne, Miss Connecticut; Elaine Richards, Miss Indiana; Judy Ann Slayton, Miss North Dakota, and Randy Beard, Miss Florida.

Miss Remenyi was born in Tverstedt, Denmark 20 years ago. Her father, Edward A. Remenyi, was stationed there as an officer in the Hungarian army.

Eleven months later the family returned to Hungary. In 1956 the Remenyi family, including Maria and her 5-year-old sister, Elizabeth, fled from Budapest to Austria and then were brought to the United States aboard an Army plane.

"We would have gone to Denmark, but my father's sister, Carmen, had lived in California since 1950 and we decided to join her," Maria said.

The willowy, 118-pound beauty is majoring in physics and hopes to get a doctorate and do research in high-energy physics. Maria would like to combine marriage and a career and have three or four children. She has shoulder-length hair and measures 35-23-35.

She said she will use the $5,000 prize money to continue her education and take her family to Hawaii.

In July she will return to Miami beach to compete for the title of Miss Universe, now held by Apsara Hongsakula of Bangkok, Thailand.

Highway Wreck Claims Six Lives

MONROE, Mich. (AP)—John Hartley and his family left Toledo, Ohio, Sunday night to return to their Livonia, Mich., home after spending the weekend at a bowling tournament in which Hartley participated.

Hours later Hartley, his wife, and two of the couple's children were dead, victims of a traffic crash which also claimed the lives of two persons in an auto which jumped a highway median and slammed into Hartley's small, foreign-made bus.

Hartley's wife, Nancy, 29, and two of their sons, John Jr., 7, and Chris, 2 died instantly when the car driven by Wallace D. Dupree, 25, of Romulus, Mich., slammed into the bus at which police said was "an excessive rate of speed" on Interstate 75.

Hartley, 30, died hours later at a hospital in nearby Toledo. Dupree and a passenger in his car, Patricia L. Wood, 20, of Monroe, also were dead at the scene.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: People who have canaries or parakeets as pets know that they should change the lining of the cage pan every time the cage is cleaned.

After using assorted types of paper, I got the idea of using a plastic place mat.

You can simply cut one to the proper size of the pan and use it over and over. Each time you clean the cage, wash the plastic mat with hot water.

This is very economical, and you can buy assorted colors and patterns which make the cage more attractive.

This completely eliminates cutting new liners for the bottom each week.

KAREN WILLIAMSON.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: When you come to the end of your rope...

R.S.S.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever I make a knitted garment to give as a gift, I wind up a little ball of the wool I used and attach it to the garment.

In the event a stitch should come loose or the garment is torn, the extra wool will be the same and the garment can be mended perfectly.

MRS. N. C.

DEAR HELOISE: I think I have a good idea for melting paraffin.

Years ago, I bought a one cup aluminum coffee pot in the dime store. I discarded the inside pieces and removed the glass top in the lid, and now use the coffee pot for melting paraffin.

The spout permits pouring the paraffin easily, and you have a handle, which makes it safer.

After using, I let the coffee pot cool and store it with the excess paraffin in a plastic bag for future use.

HILDA BARRY.

DEAR HELOISE: My mother who is 88 years old is so nearly blind that she can hardly see what she writes... naturally she sometimes writes over her lines.

I bought her a small felt tipped marking pen. Now, even though she can't read what she writes, she can see where she has written and we can read her letters.

GEORGIA ELLISON.

Dear Heloise: My son thumb-tacked an empty gelatin box inside my cupboard door to hold soft drink packages (granulated) so they will not get lost in the cupboard.

Now, we can find them at a glance and it sure keeps our cupboard neat.

MRS. R. M. DONE.

DEAR HELOISE: Little colton tipped swabs are not just for babies.

I use them in dusting the small hard-to-get-at places on my what-nots.

I just dampen the swab and the dust clings to it.

I also have sliding doors on my writing desk, and since the groove that the doors slide in, is small and narrow and not varnished, the dampened swab answers the problem.

At night, when I'm taking off my make-up, I find just dipping a swab into my mascara remover keeps remover from disappearing too fast, and avoids a mess on my hands.

MARY L. COLEMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: Save your plastic brushes from the oven cleaner solutions.

Use them for cleaning that little air hole in the bathroom sink.

They are also good for cleaning the drain.

MRS. BERT NYBERG.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Dance Afloat Marks United School Prom

HANOVERTON—United High School juniors and seniors danced prom night away Saturday and early Sunday aboard the Gateway Party Liner on the Ohio River.

Peg Bennett, daughter of Cecil Bennett of Woodsdale Rd., and Dale Kibler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kibler, Hanoverton, were crowned queen and king at midnight.

Last year's royalty, Karen Phillips and Dick Farmer, relinquished their crowns as Brian Door and Lynn Kupinski sang "Moon River"—the prom theme.

The attendants and escorts made an arch of white roses for the royal pair. In the court were Deb Sanor and Mark Green, Joyce Arthur and Tom Coffee, Barb Clemens and John Arter, Cherie Culbertson and John Wright and Cheryl Watson and Dale Farmer.

The party of 215 students and teachers embarked at 11 p. m. at the Broadway Wharf at East Liverpool, after a candlelight banquet at the Travelers Hotel. Five chartered buses carried the promenaders to East Liverpool and returned them to the school for breakfast about 4 a. m.

Miss Gene McCune of Lisbon is junior class advisor. The "party liner" carried the Rochester (Pa.) High School prom Friday night and Saturday afternoon and evening carried some 500 Youngstown Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts on a cruise from East Liverpool.

City Man Jailed On Theft Charge

A city man drew a 30 day jail term and a Midland woman's bond was forfeited and a bench warrant issued for her arrest on shoplifting charges today in Municipal Court.

Olin VanMeeter, who has no permanent address, drew the jail term from Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty to taking three pairs of nylon hose valued at $5.07 Saturday night from the A. & P. Market. The affidavit was signed by John Coyne.

Van Meter also was fined $50 and costs on an intoxication charge, with Judge Chertoff ordering him committed to the County Jail at Lisbon in default of the fine. The jail terms will run consecutively, Judge Chertoff said.

The warrant was issued for Ruby Lindsay, 410 4th St., Midland, and her bond of $107.50 was forfeited on an affidavit filed by Arthur L. Thompson alleging she took a $1 pair of ear rings Saturday afternoon from the J. C. Penney Co. store on E. 5th St. She was taken into custody at 1:25 p. m. at the store.

PTA School Set At Beaver Local

A school of instruction for officers and chairmen of the Beaver Local Public School Parent-Teacher Association and any other area PTA officers interested will be held at a meeting of the Beaver Local group tonight at 7:30 at the school.

A representative of the Ohio Congress of PTAs will be in charge.

The Ambassador Bell Choir of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church will present a program under the direction of Mrs. Paula Raines.

'Space Derby' Staged By Heights Cub Group

A "space derby" was held Saturday afternoon by members of Cub Scout Pack 43 at the Pleasant Heights School grounds.

The pack is sponsored by the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association. Twenty-six cubs participated and first place winner was Phillip Watson of Den 5, of which Mrs. Delores Hopper is den mother. The runners-up were Bobby Hermann of Den 4 and Mark McKeever and Mike Taylor, both of Den 3.

Judges were Mrs. Alvin Dickey and Mrs. Robert Dawson. Alvin Dickey was chairman of the event assisted by the fathers. Another space derby will be held in September.

Newsman Loses His Life And Three Are Wounded

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — One newsman was killed covering the war against the Communists in Viet Nam during the weekend. Three others were wounded covering the political strife.

Sam Castan, an award-winning editor of Look magazine, was killed by mortar fire Saturday while covering the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division's Operation Crazy Horse in the central highlands near An Khe.

Castan, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had covered Viet Nam off and on since 1963. Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, awarded him its medal for the best magazine reporting of 1964 for articles on Viet Nam. Castan, who carried the title senior editor, also had covered fighting in Cyprus and the Dominican Republic. He lived in Hong Kong with his wife, Frances, and an infant daughter.

He was the fifth correspondent to be killed in the Viet Nam war.

Associated Press correspondent Bob Poos and two other newsmen were wounded Sunday in Da Nang by a grenade thrown by one of the Buddhist rebels opposing Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Poos, 34, from St. Louis, Mo., said he and other newsmen had gone to the rebel headquarters in a Buddhist pagoda after being summoned to a news conference. "But the conference never materialized, and we suspected that something was wrong," he said.

"We left the pagoda with its military and civilian defenders around it. We crossed the line of Buddhist dissidents who were dug in and manning machine-gun positions. They stared at us grimly as we went by, shouting our call, 'Bao chi, bao chi' (press)."

"We turned around and saw the rebel rifles and machine guns aimed straight at our backs. We walked on with chill in our spines. Then someone shouted a command and firing burst out. We ran for cover into adjacent courtyards.

"Just then a grenade fired by a rebel launcher burst out against a tree. British freelance photographer Tim Page and myself were hit.

"I felt something like a hammer smash into my shoulder. Someone next to me shouted 'God, I'm hit, I can't see.'"

"A Vietnamese civilian came out and led me to a home. Someone put me to bed and treated my wounds."

Poos had two shoulder wounds from shell fragments and a cut hand, but his condition was reported good. Page was struck in the head and Paris Match photographer Ali Taleb was also hit by shell fragments, but neither was reported in serious condition.

Other newsmen rushed back to the press center for help. Three U.S. Marine officers sped to the scene in Jeeps and evacuated the wounded correspondents.

"Later Vietnamese Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong told us we were foolish to go to the pagoda. 'It was obviously a ruse to take you as hostages,' he said."

Poos was the second Associated Press correspondent wounded in Da Nang during the past week. Robert D. Ohman, 37, of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was hit in the foot Thursday by shell fragments.

Probe Continues In Akron Blast

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Macedonia Fire Chief Arthur T. Collins said he will question William Gagliardi today on the cause of an explosion Saturday which wrecked his home, injured seven persons and shattered windows in 20 houses.

Collins said it is "very likely" that something more was involved in the explosion than $1,800 worth of fireworks, but added officials have been unable to contact Gagliardi.

The home was leveled by two tremendous explosions which also knocked three houses six inches off their foundations and destroyed two cars in the Gagliardi garage. Damage was estimated at $20,000 and possibly could amount to $40,000, police said.

Officers said the fireworks were stored in barrels in the 43-year-old truck driver's house. Under Ohio law it is illegal to possess fireworks.

Seven persons in and near the house were able to flee in the 15 seconds between the first small explosion and the second destructive blast.

Derailment Injures 2 Railroad Workers

Two railroad employees were injured in a minor derailment at Yellow Creek Saturday night.

R. S. Smith Jr. of Columbus, a brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, and E. C. Ruff, also of Columbus, the fireman, were treated at City Hospital.

Smith suffered contusions of the left shoulder while Ruff suffered contusions of the forehead when his head struck the electrical control cabinet. The line was not closed as a result of the mishap.

Inquiry Will Be Held In Newsman's Arrest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A state investigation has been ordered into the arrest of a newsman covering the abduction of Peggy Ann Bradnick at Shade Gap.

News director Ron Stephenson of WJAC-TV, Johnstown, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of failure to comply with a lawful order. He was freed on bond.

La. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer announced he ordered the investigation at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania News Broadcasters Association Saturday. At the convention he saw a film showing the arrest.

The association passed a resolution requesting the appointment of a state police public information officer to "prevent a recurrence of the unfortunate and unnecessary incident at Shade Gap."

West Virginia Traffic Claims 7 More Lives

Tips Are Offered On French Finish

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I mentioned in my home one night that I intended to use a French finish on a piece of unfinished furniture I had bought.

Two persons there told me their versions of what a French finish was — and both were different than what I had understood. I am now confused. Exactly what is a French finish?

ANSWER: It is quite possible that whatever you read here might be a fourth version. French finishing, often called French polishing, calls for the use of a mixture of shellac, boiled linseed oil and denatured alcohol.

From that point on, there are many differences of opinion on how those three ingredients should be mixed (if at all) and how the mixture should be applied.

One opinion is that the mixture should be 50 per cent boiled linseed oil, 30 per cent shellac and 20 per cent denatured alcohol — stirred before application. Under this method, the mixture is applied to the surface of the wood with a clean cloth and then immediately rubbed off with another, dry cloth. After waiting a few minutes, sand with a fine grade of paper, dust and repeat the procedure. Do this still a third time. In applying the mixture, do only a small portion of the surface at one time.

Another opinion holds that the shellac and the denatured alcohol should be mixed, but that the boiled linseed oil should be in a separate container.

A clean wad of cotton or piece of cheesecloth is dipped in the shellac, then in the boiled linseed oil and then rubbed on the wood in circular movements. After a wait of several hours, the procedure is repeated. In both cases, waxing is recommended after a day or two.

Some well-stocked dealers specializing in wood finishes carry ready-mixed French polishes. If you use one of those, follow the instructions on the container.

If Plaster Has Cracks, Check House 'Settling'

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Plaster cracks sometimes will appear on the walls of houses that are only a few months old.

These openings, which can cause the owner of a new house to doubt the purchase, usually occur only because the structure has begun to settle in the ground and very rarely indicate any serious trouble.

Before attempting to repair such cracks, it is important to know whether the house settling has ended.

If it hasn't — and if the repairs are made — the same thing will take place again in a short time. The best way to do this is to mark off the extremities or each crack with a pencil or something else that can be easily erased. Wait a few weeks. If the crack hasn't lengthened, it is safe to go ahead with the patching job.

Don't rely on your eyes and your memory to tell you whether the plaster split is getting larger.

MOST PLASTER patching materials come in powder form and are mixed with water to make them workable.

One of the most common is the spackling — type compound used mostly for small openings. It dries fairly quickly and is easy to handle. Others, including the old reliable plaster of paris, dry much faster and require that only enough be mixed to cover a small surface.

Some professionals find that a 50-50 mixture of spackling compound and plaster of paris is very effective. In any case, no matter which material is used, read the directions on the container to determine the drying time.

Three things are important in patching plaster. One is to wet down the opening that is to be filled. The second is to wet it down after it has set. The third is to prime the spot with a primer, sealer or dab of paint before either repainting the entire wall or trying to match the patch with the rest of the surface.

If either of the first two steps is omitted, the patch will dry out too quickly. If the third step is omitted, the spot will be visible after the wall has been repainted.

SMALL CRACKS are filled merely by applying patching material to them with a putty knife. But larger cracks require undercutting.

This means making the bottom of each opening larger than the top; that is, making the edges of the plaster slant inward. When this is done, the new plaster is locked in place and will not easily fall out.

Where a lot of plaster needs replacing it is sometimes wise to fill the opening almost to the top, but not quite. Let it set for a few hours, wet it down, then fill the remainder, smoothing it out with the putty knife. This helps to prevent shrinkage, which occurs when a large opening is filled at one time.

Professional painters sometimes patch plaster, then go right ahead with the repainting of the wall.

You'll be better off if you do the patching one day and the painting the next or, at the least, allow an interval of five or six hours.

What About Home Of The Future?

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It will be a long time — maybe never — before the woman of the house foregoes the privilege of changing the furniture around or ordering new drapes for windows that logically would need no drapes at all.

This opinion was among the many we got from a prominent inventor-scientist, well versed in scientific and engineering research, when we asked him that perennial question: What will the home of the future be like?

THE HOME of the future, according to Alvin M. Marks of Whitestone, N. Y., will bear a strong resemblance to the new homes now on the market. But it will offer a degree of climate, light and environmental control — all oriented to family health and convenience — that long has been the dream of every homeowner.

Marks, who holds more than 200 U.S. and foreign patents and heads a research and development firm, believes the direction of new home construction 10, 20 and 30 years from now will not be "out of this world," but instead will offer a better protected, more comfortable and more efficient way to live.

Among the practicalities he envisions is a compact electric generator linked to the home's heating plant to supply the need for vastly increased power and to make the home self-sufficient in this respect.

He foresees a home desk-top computer, linked to weight sensors on pantry shelves for instant inventory of foodstuffs. Every room will have a wall-hung flat TV screen, an unobtrusive glass pane that virtually disappears into the room decor when not in use.

The trend to miniaturization, greatly accelerated by this age of space exploration, will be reflected in the home of the future by great reduction in the bulk of home appliances, which will be made even less obtrusive by installation as built-ins or popouts visible only when in use.

ONE OF the nation's pioneers in light polarization research, Marks believes that control of environmental control will include more emphasis on air purification and humidity, with the appropriate appliances activated by computer response to inconspicuous sensing devices.

Burglar-alarm systems using sound screens or electric eye beams and fire warning systems will be commonplace protections offered in the home of the future.

HOWEVER, home seekers of the future will have much in common with present families. They will be confronted with a similarly wide variety of interior layouts from which to select.

As Marks notes, the home as a totality is not so much the product of science as it is a response to human needs, one that includes a place for esthetics, privacy, security and pride of possession. There will still be those who want walls for privacy, while others like open planning for spaciousness.

Some will like traditional reminders of the past, others the unconventional challenge of the modern. While science can provide tools for better and more enjoyable living, it should only serve and not dictate to human needs and values, Marks believes.

Leo Has A Rough Day; Yankees Topple Twins Twice

-National- By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer Leo Durocher said what Harry Wendelstedt did to him was illegal. He could have said the same about Hank Aaron.

Wendelstedt, a rookie umpire in the National League, ejected Durocher from the opener of the Chicago-Atlanta doubleheader Sunday, marking the first time the Cubs' manager has been tossed out of a game this season.

Aaron was even rougher on Durocher, rapping four hits and driving in two runs as the Braves won the game 5-2. The Atlanta veteran came back with two more hits in the nightcap, but the Cubs pulled it out 4-3.

Durocher, managing again after a nine-year absence from the top job, was thrown out at the start of the fourth inning.

Durocher explained that some of the Cubs were riding Wendelstedt, and the plate umpire came over to the dugout and threatened to eject Durocher if they didn't stop.

"I wasn't the one saying anything," Durocher said. "Why did he pick on me?"

Aaron picked on Durocher, too. He went into the doubleheader with three straight hits and extended his streak to eight, two away from the National League record, before Ernie Broglio struck him out in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Aaron, batting .250 when the day started, raised his average to .279 by collecting six hits in seven at-bats. He lashed three singles and a double in the opener and two singles in the second game.

Elsewhere in the National League San Francisco blanked New York 5-0 behind 7-2, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-0, Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-1 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 4-3.

Unbeaten Juan Marichal gained his eighth victory and third shutout, blanking New York on three hits in the opener. The Giant ace also extended his lifetime record over the Mets to 15-0. Jim Hart knocked in three runs, but with a third-inning homer.

The Mets came back in the second game behind Jack Hamilton's six-hit pitching. Hart belted his 11th homer, but Ron Swoboda's homer and a two-run triple by Ed Bressoud were enough for Hamilton.

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale stymied the Dodgers on five hits and received support from Donn Clendenon's run-scoring single in the first inning and a two-run double by Manny Mota in the fourth. Maury Wills stole the 400th base of his career for Los Angeles in the ninth.

Philadelphia received eight-hit pitching from Jim Bunning and eight walks from three Houston pitchers. Clay Dalrymple drove in two runs with a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Orlando Cepeda let in the tie-breaking run with a throwing error in the seventh inning but came back with a run-scoring single in the ninth that pulled St. Louis into a 3-3 deadlock. Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas threw wildly on the single, and Curt Flood raced home with the winning run.

-American- By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer Two weeks ago when Ralph Houk took over the New York Yankees they were both going to pot.

Now only Houk is.

The new Yankee manager still can't climb into his old uniform but the Yankees have managed to climb into a tie for seventh place by putting together a five-game winning streak capped by Sunday's 5-3 and 2-1 sweep of the Minnesota Twins.

The twin triumphs were the 10th and 11th in 14 games under Houk, who took over the club from Johnny Keane in Los Angeles two weeks ago last Saturday, tried on his old No. 35 uniform and found that sitting behind a desk for two years had caused a pot belly.

He wore No. 51 in Los Angeles — the uniform belonged to Pete Mikkelsen, who had been traded — then phoned New York and asked the Yankees to get the No. 35 uniform tailored to his new measurements. Then he started to do a tailoring job on the Yankees.

He immediately designated Joe Pepitone the clean-up hitter, and the first baseman showed why against the Twins by driving in three runs in the opener and hitting a game-winning double in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

The Yankees still are 8½ games behind the front-running Cleveland Indians, who swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and 4-1. Elsewhere, Detroit edged Baltimore 3-2, Boston defeated Kansas City 5-1 and Washington downed California 6-2 before the Angels won the nightcap 2-1.

The Indians broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning of the opener when Max Alvis singled, moved up on a grounder and scored on Rocky Colavito's single. Fred Whitfield broke out the nightcap with a two-run double in a three-run seventh inning. John O'Donoghue got the second game victory with a three-hitter and now has four victories in as many games.

Don Wert drove in two of the Tigers' runs with squeeze bunts and the third crossed when pitcher Frank Bertina threw wild on the second bunt. The Orioles had a chance to tie it in the ninth but Frank Robinson was thrown out at the plate. Willie Horton to Bill Freehan, when he tried to score from second on a single by Brooks Robinson.

The Red Sox were held to one hit by Ralph Terry until they rushed across three runs in the seventh and broke a 1-1 tie. A ground rule double by Dalton Jones, who earlier homered, and Joe Foy's single produced the go-ahead run. Pitcher Earl Wilson also singled in a run, then went on to complete a four-hitter.

The Senators won their fifth straight in the opener with a three-run second inning uprising putting it out of reach. Jim King, Frank Howard and winning pitcher Pete Richert each drove in runs. Jimmy Piersall doubled in Tom Satriano with the decisive run in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the Angels snapped a six-game losing streak.

Taylor (second from right) is shown accepting the trophy from Ernie Purton, association president. Taylor was nominated from the Mackintosh Hemphill League of Terrace Lanes. Four other bowlers who were nominated from other bowling alleys were presented sportsmanship trophies. Chapie Davis, nominated from the Headpin Lanes, and Tom Kennedy of the Saineville Village Lanes were not present.

Kauai King Eyes 'Triple'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Now comes Kauai King, bidding for the big one that has gotten away so many times.

Tim Tam tried it — and failed.

Carry Back tried it — and failed.

Northern Dancer tried it — and failed.

Now it's Kauai King, with victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, going for the Belmont Stakes — bidding for a sweep of the Triple Crown that has been accomplished only eight times since 1877 and not at all since Citation turned the trick in 1948.

"I was confident before the Preakness," jockey Don Brumfield said, and predicted that the lung-straining 1½ miles of the Belmont will be no trouble for Kauai King, who will be a $5,000 supplemental nominee for the June 4 test at Aqueduct.

Since Citation, Tim Tam, Carry Back and Northern Dancer all swept the first two legs of the gruelling test for 3-year-olds, only to be beaten in the Belmont, the longest of the Triple Crown series. The Derby is 1¼ miles, the Preakness 1.3 miles. But the picture is more promising than usual for Kauai King, whose father, Native Dancer, won the Preakness and Belmont after being nipped in the Derby for his only defeat.

The list of prospective opponents he has not already beaten is almost nonexistent. Normally, there are at least a couple of trainers who have been biding their time for the Belmont. None is known at this time.

The only possible fresh face to tackle Kauai King that comes to mind is Creme Dela Creme. He won his first six races this year, then lost in the Withers mile to Indulto, who finished a fading fifth in the Preakness.

Although Brumfield whipped Kauai King with his left hand only a couple of times to keep him straight in the stretch, they were nearly two lengths ahead of Stupendous at the finish.

It was another five lengths back to Amberoid and straggling in order were Rehabilitate, Indulto, Advocate, Excceedingly, Understanding and Blue Skyer.

It was the eighth victory in 10 starts this year for Kauai King and hiked his earnings for owner Mike Ford to $369,027.

West Virginia Crowns Its Track Champions

CHARLESTON (AP) — Students at Charleston Stonewall Jackson are admiring their school's 10th championship track trophy today, as are the boys and girls at Bluefield Park Central. But the students at Mount Hope didn't get a trophy.

Stonewall received its trophy here Saturday for winning its 10th Class AAA championship.

Oak Glen Athletics Chalk Up 5 Points

Oak Glen thincads captured one fourth and two fifth-place finishes in the West Virginia AAA finals Saturday and tied Herbert Hoover High for 13th place with a team total of five points.

The 880-yard relay team of John Kell, Marvin Six, Richard Everly and Jim Gracie finished fourth and Gracie took fifth in the 440-yard dash and Tom Thayer fifth in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Park Central and Mount Hope tied for the title in the Class AA division, but Bluefield won the toss of the coin which decided where the trophy would go.

Defending champion Parkersburg was second in the AAA meet with 38 points, compared with 56 for Stonewall's Generals. Weirton was third with 28 and Huntington placed fourth with 26 in a relatively quiet meet that saw only one record fall as Stonewall dominated the field with its over-all balance.

But the AA affair was a different story. The "small school" meet wasn't decided until the final event and a total of six records fell during Friday night and Saturday.

Mount Hope's Mickey Plumley then slugged the tie by taking third place and the all-important three points. As a result, the two teams finished the meet with 38½ points each to easily outdistance third-place Beckley Stratton which had 28.

Three AA records fell Friday night and another three new marks were set under the hot sun Saturday.

Two Ceredo-Kenova runners set records. Dana Ferrell established the new 880-yard mark at 2:01.6, while teammate Odie Rakes broke the record in the 440-yard sprint at :50.9.

Beckley Stratton's Thevin Wright set the board jump mark Saturday with a leap of 22 feet. And Fayetteville's shuttle hurdle relay team topped the other record Saturday, posting a time of 1:00.2.

Friday's record performances saw Warwood break the mile relay mark it set last year with the sparkling time of 8:26.4. Park Central's 440-yard relay squad also put its time in the record book at :44.9.

The only AAA record to fall was in the two-mile relay where Huntington's team ran the event in the time of 8:14.5. The time bettered the previous record of 8:16.2 set in 1964 by another Huntington relay team.

'Uncle Sam' Worries Clay

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay returns home Tuesday with two potential opponents in mind and an unbeatable foe in his future.

Clay mentioned both Doug Jones and West Germany's Karl Mildenberger as possible opponents for his next fight — which he said will be in about two months — after disposing of London's Henry Cooper in six rounds Saturday night.

Of perhaps more immediate concern to the unbeaten heavyweight champion, however, is the one guy even Cassius admits he can't take out.

"There's one who's too tough for me," Clay said. "Old Uncle Sam. I can't take him on."

And Uncle has some designs on Clay. First, the Internal Revenue Service wants about $115,000 of the reported $350,000 Clay received for the scheduled 15 rounder in an outdoor soccer stadium.

Then there's the matter of Clay's draft status, currently 1-A, which Cassius, alias Muhammad Ali, is appealing on the basis of religion and financial hardship. He's a Black Muslim and has appealed that he's a conscientious objector.

He echoed those sentiments after opening a 12-stitch cut over Cooper's left eye, a cut that pumped blood all over both fighters, spotted the ring, sprayed over ringside reporters and forced referee George Smith to stop it at 1:38 of the sixth round.

"I was sorry to see it end like that," Clay said. "I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood. I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion."

"It was terrible to see him cut so much. I didn't really relish hitting him when I saw the blood spurt."

The Associated Press gave Henry the first two rounds, called the third even and gave the fourth and fifth to Clay. Under British rules, the referee is the only official and his card is never announced.

There were no knockdowns and no one was really hurt until Clay opened the cut.

Colts Under Way Two-Hit Shutout Marks Openers

A two-hit shutout by the Riverview Florists' Mike Caruso highlighted the opening day action in the Tri-State Colt League Sunday at Colt Field.

The Florists pushed runs across in the third and fifth innings in downing the Realtors, 2-0. Caruso fanned four and losing pitcher Bob Flint nine.

In two other contests Sunday, the Dentists used a 10-hit attack to down Central Service, 7-3, and Salem topped the Lawyers of Columbiana, 3-0, at Columbiana.

Jerry Howell hurled a four-hitter in dumping Central Service.

Akron Noses Out Mount For Title

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) —

Mount Union had three double winners, but Akron's over-all team strength allowed it to outscore the Raiders 128-124 and win the Ohio Conference track and field championship Saturday.

Akron competitors picked up points in all but two of the meet's events. One of the Zips, Rich Turner, was first in the shared first in the high jump.

One of Mount Union's double winners, Jim Fox, was declared the meet's outstanding performer. He won the mile in 4:26.9 and the 800 in 1:57.4 over Ohio Wesleyan's rain-soaked track.

Nate Hawthorne, in the 220 and 440, and Larry Graves, in the high jump and triple jump, were the other double winners. Other team scores: Baldwin-Wallace 63, Ohio Wesleyan 40, Capital 25, Oberlin 24, Wooster 20, Wittenberg 19, Muskingum 12, Kenyon 12, Denison 10, Otterbein 7, Marietta 4, Heidelberg 4, Hiram 1.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Children Should Defend Themselves

Rightly parents don't want their own children to quarrel and fight excessively with one another, or with other children. But if parents try to forbid any youngster never to stand up in self-defense they may face some hard problems — just as this mother from Michigan did.

Dr. Garry Myers who wrote the following: "I'm a mother of two children, two and three. The older is a girl and the younger a boy. My husband and I have been trying to teach them not to hit each other, instead to come and tell us when something is wrong."

I also told them the one caught hitting was going to get a spanking from me. We thought we were doing quite well as the fighting is happening less and less.

"THE OTHER day I took the children over to my girlfriend's house. She has a boy, four and a little girl, two. We were sitting in the kitchen and the little girl walked up to my son and slapped him. I didn't say anything and Joe just stood there. When she realized he wasn't going to fight back she slapped him across the face. She slapped him so hard she left her hand print. I didn't say anything but just picked him up and loved him.

"My girlfriend started laughing. As she put it, 'Your big cow of a son looked so funny just standing there and letting my little tiny daughter beat on him! I told her she was wrong for not correcting her daughter and she said I was wrong for not teaching my son self-defense.'

Church Fights Laxity In 'Sexual Standards'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Determination to resist an asserted modern breakdown in sexual standards is voiced in a proposed new creed being considered today by the United Presbyterian Church.

The church must "lead men and women into the full meaning of life together" and offer "the compassion of Christ" to "those caught in the moral confusion of our time," says the new declaration of convictions.

Up for action at the 33-million-member denomination's governing General Assembly, it is the first creedal revision for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in 317 years. The revision seeks to apply Christ's reconciling message to current issues.

Threatening relationships between nations, between races and between rich and poor are cited, in addition to the section about sex.

"Anarchy in sexual relationships is a symptom of man's alienation from God, his neighbor and himself," the document says.

"Man's perennial confusion about the meaning of sex has been aggravated in our day by the availability of new means for birth control and the treatment of infection, by the pres-

"I believe at this time teaching him self-defense will only confuse him — yet I can't bear to see him stand there and take it. As long as I'm in her house there's not too much I can do. I don't want to hold a grudge against the girl as we've been friends for years, but still I don't want to go to her house again either. Please help! I'm sending a self-addressed envelope. Any advice you could give me would really help."

My reply in part: I CAN see how eager you parents have been to keep your little children from fighting. I can also understand that you might have seemed to get success awhile until they came in touch with other children.

But you did not face reality when you tried to teach those little children never to look out for themselves. Besides, you encouraged them to tattletale. If I were you parents, I would be more vigilant when they are together and make it a pretty serious matter if either hit the other with an object, but would try to ignore their hitting when they use their bare hands and didn't scratch or bite.

They need to be with other children their age and learn in some way to defend themselves. I'm not sure I know just how you should try to make the transition if you are convinced that you should change your ways. Perhaps you should keep your children away from those neighbor children for some while until your children have had some successful practice in self-defense. Your children might profit from being in a nursery school, even in the nursery department of a Sunday school.

Pair's Unhurt As Car Dives Over Hillside

A Newell area teen-ager and a Calcutta area girl escaped injury Sunday afternoon when the convertible he was driving plunged over the Lisbon St. hillside after the brakes reportedly locked, police said.

The mishap was one of five reported over the weekend in which no one was hurt or cited. James Earl Roe, 17, of the Congo Rd. told police he was headed south near 1022 Lisbon St. in the 1963 auto when the brakes locked and the car jumped the curb and went over the hill.

The owner of the convertible, Joan Carol Thomas of Duke Voady Rd., was examined at City Hospital but had no apparent injuries.

Police listed two tires as the only damage to the auto. Miss Thomas told officers she had the brakes worked on three times in four months.

Traffic was tied up on the street while a wrecker pulled the auto back into the road. A mishap at 7:31 p.m. Saturday on W. 8th St. at the entrance to Westgate School involved cars operated by David Albert Hall, 24, of the old Fredericktown Rd. and Kenneth Wayne Robinson of 716 Main St., Toronto.

Hall said he was slowing to turn into the school when his car was hit from the rear. Robinson told police he was in the left or passing lane when Hall cut in front of him. Because of the wet pavement, he was unable to stop in time to avoid the other car, he said.

Corliss S. Myers, 60, of 805 W. 9th St. told police his auto was struck by a hit-skip motorist at 10:19 p.m. Saturday at Jackson St. and Summit Ln. Myers said he was headed north when the other auto swerved and hit his car and continued without stopping.

An accident at Apple and High Alleys at 4:52 p.m. Saturday involved a Hune Co. truck operated by Ralph E. Lockhart, 41, of Wyoming Ave. and a 1959 auto driven by William C. Wynn, 45, 325 W. 9th St.

A mishap at 11:18 a.m. Saturday involved an eastbound car operated by Mary J. Householder, 54, of Hammondville and a parked auto owned by Sharon E. Potts of Clinton, Pa. The Hammondville woman was driving east in E. Drury Ln. near Market St. when Howard Potts, 17, brother of the owner of the parked car opened the car door, police said.

Retired General Dies
KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Retired Army Maj. Gen. Charles K. Gailey Jr., who was chief of staff of the military government in Berlin during the 1948-49 airlift, died Saturday. He was 65.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHAMELEONS

QUESTION: What makes chameleons change colors?

ANSWER: The true chameleon is the funny little fellow shown at the upper right. He lives in Madagascar and Africa, as well as parts of Asia and Europe. He has a very long sticky tongue with which to catch insects (1), can roll his eyes (2), has peculiar grasping toes (3) and a tail he can wrap around twigs for support (4). The American chameleon is an American lizard of another kind, usually called "Chameleon" because he can change colors so often, like the Old World one. It is a popular idea that chameleons change colors to match their surroundings, but there is little truth in this. Scientists say that changes in temperature, in the intensity of light and in the lizard's emotional feelings—such as fright, anger and so on—make the differences in color. Under ordinary conditions, a chameleon may be gray green with small spots. In the dark this may fade to cream color. Under bright sunlight, the lizard may turn black. Hot conditions without sunlight may make the chameleon green. When startled, he may turn to a lighter tone with brown areas and yellow spots.

FOR YOU TO DO: The American chameleon, often sold at pet shops and circuses, is lots of fun when kept in a vivarium such as we show. Feed them meal worms and flies and be sure to sprinkle the cage with water so they can lap up the drops. If you can't keep one, try to find someone who has a pet chameleon and check up on the colors.

Arthur Difter of Norristown, Pa., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Policy In Viet Key Issue In Oregon Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's Viet Nam policy goes on the line Tuesday before Oregon Democratic voters choosing their party's nominee for the Senate.

The primary voters will be offered a choice between Howard Morgan, 52, who is critical of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, and Rep. Robert B. Duncan, 45, who supports it.

As an added fillip, Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat who has been sharply critical of the administration, has staked his prestige on a victory for Morgan.

At the same time, Florida and Oklahoma voters will be settling runoff races for nominations for governor, and Kentucky voters will be choosing Senate candidates.

There also will be contests in Oregon for gubernatorial nominations and in both Oregon and Kentucky primary races for Congress will be staged.

Because of the clash of views on Viet Nam policy, national interest is centered on the rival bids by Morgan and Duncan.

Morse has declared that if Morgan was not nominated he would vote for Gov. Mark Hatfield. Hatfield is the prospective Republican Senate nominee although he faces primary opposition from Walter Huss, an ultra-conservative.

The Senate seat involved in this struggle is now held by Sen. Maurice B. Neuberger, Democrat, who chose not to seek reelection.

State Treasurer Robert Straub is bidding in Oregon for the Democratic nomination for governor. He is opposed by State Sen. Ben Musa. Candidates for the Republican nomination are Secretary of State Tom McCall and John L. Reynolds.

In Florida, Gov. Haydon Burns and Miami Mayor Robert King High are in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for governor. Scott Kelly, who ran third in the first primary May 3, has thrown his support to High.

Oklahoma has runoffs for both the Democratic and Republican nominations for governor. The Democrats: Raymond Gary and Preston Moore, a former American Legion national commander. The Republicans: State Sen. Dewey Bartlett and John N. Happy Camp, a Waukomis banker.

In Kentucky, Sen. John Sherman Cooper is expected to have little trouble winning the Republican nomination for another term. He is opposed in the primary by Sam Ward of Hazard and Thurman Hamlin of London. Candidates for the Democratic nomination are John Young Brown, a Lexington lawyer, and Gaines Wilson, a Louisville businessman. Kentucky does not elect a governor this year.

Since 1607, when the first settlers landed at Jamestown, Virginia, 42 million people have immigrated to the United States.
